PREFACE.

The Editor desires to call attention to the extract from the Blue-book for 1885, printed at the head of the "Table of Contents" on page IX, and also to the extract from the same publication which appears at the commencement of Part IV on page 22.

For convenience of reference, the "Civil Service and Pension Fund Acts Amendment Act," No. 31 of 1888, has been collated with the Acts affecting the Civil Service previously published.

The Civil Service Establishment return being completed to the 30th September, 1888, appointments made subsequent to that date are published in a supplementary return on page 221. The members of the new House of Assembly are given on pages 222-3.

All matters connected with the examinations for entry into the service, the successful candidates, the dates of their appointment, &c., will be found in the CIVIL SERVICE CALENDAR, at the end of the volume.

"The first issue of the Statistical Register, which, as its title implies, will contain only financial and statistical information, will be made in April or May, 1887, and arrangements have been consequently entered into, as stated on page 67A, for the transfer in extenso to the Civil Service List, edited by Mr. E. F. Kilpin, Clerk-Assistant to the House of Assembly, of the following general and descriptive returns, viz.:—Councils and Assembly Civil List, with Index and Supplementary Returns—Security and Pensions, Consular List."]

By Warrant under the Queen's Sign-Manual. C. ROMILLY.

A copy of the instructions here referred to were presented to Parliament in 1878, and were printed in extenso in the Parliamentary paper A 8—'78. Briefly they may be stated thus:—

1. The Governor's Commission to be read and published in the presence of the Chief Justice, or other Judge, and of the Executive Council. The Governor, or Officer administering the Government, is also to take the Oath of Allegiance in the form provided by Act 31 and 32 Victoria, cap. 72, as well as the usual oath for the due execution of the office, and of the administration of justice, which oaths are to be tendered and administered by the Chief Justice, or, in the event of his absence or incapacity, the senior Judge present, or failing such Judge the senior Member of the Executive Council present.
2. The Oath of Allegiance, or such other oath as may be by law prescribed, is to be administered by the Governor, or by someone duly authorized by him, to such persons holding any office of trust or profit as the Governor may think fit.
3. These instructions, and others in the Governor's discretion, to be communicated to the Executive Council.
4. Executive Councils not to proceed to business unless summoned by the authority of the Governor, nor unless there be present two members besides the Governor or the member presiding.
5. Unless prevented by some necessary or reasonable cause, the Governor is to preside at Executive Council, but in his absence he will appoint some member president, in whose absence the senior member will preside, seniority being regulated according to order of appointment of members of the Council.
6. Journals and minutes of the Executive Council to be kept, and confirmed or amended at the next subsequent meeting before proceeding to any other business.
7. Except in unimportant matters, or matters too urgent to admit thereof, or under circumstances when the Governor may consider it prejudicial to H.M.'s service so to do, he shall in all cases consult with the Executive Council; but in all such urgent cases he shall as soon as possible acquaint the Council with his action and the reasons thereof.
8. The Governor may, in his discretion, act in opposition to the advice of the Executive Council, but he must report the matter to Her Majesty, with his reasons, by the first convenient opportunity.
9. In assenting to, dissenting from, or reserving Bills, the Governor is to be guided by the following Rules.
10. Different subjects are not to be mixed in the same law; no clause is to be introduced into a Bill foreign to what the title imports, and no perpetual clause is to be part of any temporary law.
11. The following description of Bills are not to be assented to, unless any such Bill contain a clause suspending operation until the signification of H.M.'s pleasure, or unless the Governor is satisfied there is urgent necessity for it, when he may assent thereto, unless repugnant to the law of England, or inconsistent with treaty obligations:—
    (1). For the divorce of persons joined together in holy matrimony.
    (2). For the grant of any land, or money, or for any donation or gratuity to the Governor himself.
    (3). For making any paper or other currency a legal tender, except the coin of the realm or other gold or silver coin.
    (4). For imposing differential duties.

THE HIGH COMMISSIONER.

Upon his appointment to the office of Governor of the Colony, Sir Hercules Robinson also received a Commission as Her Majesty's High Commissioner for the Territories of South Africa adjacent thereto. This Commission, which bore date the 18th August, 1880, was published on pages 5 and 6 of the Civil Service List for 1885.

In consequence, however, of the resumption of direct Imperial control over Basutoland, and the position of affairs in Bechuanaland, as well as of the fresh relations entered into by Her Majesty with the South African Republic, this was superseded by another and a more extended Commission, dated the 29th February, 1884 :—

COMMISSION passed under the Royal Sign-Manual and Signet, appointing the Right Honourable Sir HERCULES GEORGE ROBERT ROBINSON, P.C., G.C.M.G., to be Her Majesty's High Commissioner for South Africa.

VICTORIA R.

Dated 29th February, 1884.

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India; To Our Right Trusty and Well-beloved Councillor Sir HERCULES GEORGE ROBERT ROBINSON, Knight Grand Cross of our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Our Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, in South Africa, with its Territories and Dependencies, Greeting:

WHEREAS by our Commission under our Sign-Manual and Signet, bearing date at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 18th day of August, 1880, We did appoint you the said Sir HERCULES GEORGE ROBERT ROBINSON to be our High Commissioner for the Territories of South Africa adjacent to our Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, or with which it might be expedient that We should have relations.

And whereas We have, by an Order in Council bearing date the Second day of February, 1884, resumed direct authority over Our Territory of Basutoland, and are minded to exercise greater influence in Bechuanaland in aid of the Native Chiefs and peoples residing therein, and have entered into fresh relations with the Transvaal State, now known as the South African Republic.

And whereas We are therefore minded to give to you, Our said High Commissioner, further powers and directions in relation to the conduct of Our affairs in South Africa.

Now We do, by this Our Commission under our Sign-Manual and Signet, appoint you, the said Sir HERCULES GEORGE ROBERT ROBINSON, to be during Our pleasure Our High Commissioner for South Africa, and as such High Commissioner to act in Our name and on Our behalf, and in all respects to represent Our Crown and authority, in matters occurring in South Africa beyond the limits of Our Colonies of the Cape of Good Hope and Natal respectively, and beyond the limits of any other place or territory in South Africa, in and over which We may from time to time have appointed a Governor.

II.—And we do hereby empower and require you to exercise in Our name and on Our behalf all powers in regard to Basutoland which are invested in Our High Commissioner by the aforesaid Order in Council of Second day of February, 1884, and further to take all such measures and to do all such matters and things in Bechuanaland as in the interest of Our Service you may think expedient, subject to such instructions as you may from time to time receive from Us or through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State.

III.—And we do hereby empower and require you, as such Our High Commissioner, to transact on Our behalf all business which may lawfully be transacted by you with the President or Representatives of the Republic of the Orange Free State or of the South African Republic, or with the Representative of any Foreign Power, subject nevertheless to such instructions as you may from time to time receive from Us or through one of Our Principal Secretaries of State. And We do empower you, if occasion should require, to appoint British Officers to reside within the said Republics or either of them, and to transact such business as you may entrust to them. And we do require you by all proper means, to invite and obtain the co-operation of the Governments of the said Republics or of any Foreign Power towards the preservation of peace and safety in South Africa, and the general welfare and advancement of its territories and peoples.

IV.—And We do hereby empower and require you as such Our High Commissioner, in Our name and on Our behalf, to take all such measures, and to do all such things in relation to the Native Tribes in South Africa with which it is expedient that We should have relations, and which are not included within the territory of either of the said Republics, or of any Foreign Power, as are lawful and appear to you to be advisable, for maintaining Our Possessions in peace and safety, and for promoting the peace, order, and government of the Tribes aforesaid, and for preserving friendly relations with them.

V.—And We do hereby authorize and empower you, by Instruments under your hand and seal, to appoint so many fit persons as you shall think necessary (in the interest of Our Service) to be your Deputy Commissioners, or to be Resident Commissioners or Assistant Commissioners, and by the same or other Instruments to define the districts within which such officers shall respectively discharge their functions: And we do hereby authorize and empower every such Deputy or Resident or Assistant Commissioner to have and exercise within his district such of the powers and authorities hereby conferred upon you Our High Commissioner as you shall think fit to assign to him by the Instrument appointing him, subject, nevertheless, to such directions and instructions as you may from time to time think fit to give him. And We do declare that the appointment of such Deputy or Resident or Assistant Commissioners shall not abridge, alter, or affect the right of you, Our High Commissioner, to execute and discharge all the powers, authorities, and functions of your said office.

VI.—And We do hereby further authorize and empower you, as occasion may require, to appoint such Border Agents and other Officers as you may think necessary, if provision shall have been made for their payment.

VII.—And further know you that We do hereby appoint that these presents shall not supersede or suspend Our Commission under our Sign-Manual and Signet, bearing date the 28th day of January, 1882, appointing Our Trusty and Well-beloved Sir HENRY ERNEST BULWER, Knight Commander (now Knight Grand Cross) of our most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, to be Our Special Commissioner in relation to the Native Tribes in Zululand; but so long as the said Sir HENRY ERNEST BULWER is acting as such Special Commissioner under our said Commission, these presents shall be deemed to be suspended in respect of the Territories and Tribes to which Our said Commission relates.

VIII.—And further We do hereby appoint that so soon as you shall have caused this Our Commission to be published in South Africa this our present Commission shall supersede Our Commission above recited of the 18th day of August, 1880, appointing you to be Our High Commissioner as therein mentioned.

IX.—And We do hereby command and require all Our officers and Ministers, Civil and Military, and all the inhabitants of Our Possessions, and all other Our loyal subjects in South Africa, to be aiding and assisting unto you, the said Sir HERCULES GEORGE ROBERT ROBINSON, in execution of this Our Commission.

The Parliament consists of the Governor, a Legislative Council, and a House of Assembly; and before any measure can become law it must have been passed by the Council and the Assembly, and have received the Governor's assent. The Governor may amend Bills so passed, or assent or refuse to assent to them; or he may reserve them for the signification of her Majesty's pleasure; but all money Bills must be first recommended by the Governor to the House of Assembly, or otherwise the express sanction of the Governor thereto must be communicated to the House. A copy of every Act, signed by the Governor, the President of the Legislative Council, and the Speaker of the House of Assembly is enrolled in the office of the Registrar of the Supreme Court. Within two years of its receipt by the Secretary of State, any Act so passed and assented to, may be disallowed by an Order in Council of Her Majesty.

The members of both Houses of Parliament are elected by the same voters, the qualifications entitling any male British subject of 21 years of age to vote being (1) twelve months' continuous residence in one or more houses or buildings of the value of £25, or (2) receipt for twelve months of wages of £50 a year, or £25 with board and lodging, provided there has been no longer interval than one month between different situations. No person, however, may vote who is of unsound mind, or who has been convicted of any criminal offence, unless he has received a free pardon.

The Parliament is to meet at least once a year, so that twelve calendar months shall not intervene between the last sitting in one session and the first sitting in the next.

The Chief Justice for the time being is ex officio, President of the Council, and may take part in any debate, and has a casting vote. The qualification for the elective members of the Council is (1) the possession of real property unencumbered, to the value of £2,000 in the Colony, or (2) if the said property be mortgaged, the possession in addition of property, real or personal, to the value of £4,000 above all liabilities. No person may be elected to the Council who is under 30 years of age, or who is disqualified from being registered as a voter, or who is the holder of an office of profit under the Crown, unless one of the Ministry.

Members are elected for a period of seven years, and the Council cannot be dissolved within that period unless the House of Assembly be dissolved at the same time. A seat may be vacated by resignation, absence for a whole session without leave, acceptance of an office of profit under the Crown, ceasing to possess the property qualification, insolvency, or any other act which would make the member ineligible as a candidate. Five members form a quorum. The Standing Rules and Orders of the Council have continued unchanged, with one or two unimportant exceptions, since 1872. Matters not there provided for are treated in accordance with the rules and usages of the Imperial Parliament.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

The 76 members composing the House of Assembly are elected to serve for five years, by 37 electoral divisions. The following table shows the increase in the representation in the House of Assembly since the establishment of Parliament, giving the Act, the name of the electoral division, and the number of members added:—

1874—Sir D. Tennant.

Any Person entitled to be registered as a voter is eligible for election, with the exception of persons holding an office of profit under the Queen, within the Colony, or uncertificated insolvents. With the exception of the provision regarding property qualification, seats become vacant in the same manner, and from the same causes, in the House of Assembly as in the Legislative Council.

The Standing Rules and Orders now in force for the proper conduct of the business of the House were adopted on the 8th August and the 14th and 18th September, 1883, and were approved by His Excellency the Officer administering the Government on the 13th August and the 21st and 27th September of that year. In all cases not therein provided for resort is to be had to the rules, forms, usages and practices of the Commons House of Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland, so far as they are applicable to the House, and not inconsistent with the said Standing Rules and Orders. The House of Assembly may at any time be dissolved by the Governor. In 1887 a list of charges which Parliamentary agents may justly make under the "Parliamentary Costs Taxation Act, 1887" was prepared in pursuance of the said Act by the Speaker, and was laid upon the Table of the House on the 3rd August, 1887.

"It is announced that no Civil Establishment Return will appear in the 'Statistical Register,' which, in 1887, takes the place of the Colonial Blue-book.

"In pursuance of the advice tendered by Mr. E. J. Pearson, of the Board of Trade, arrangements have been completed for the future publication, under a different system from that hitherto obtaining, of full particulars respecting the Service, Salaries, and Stations of Government Officers.

"The Civil Establishment Return, as well as the Pension, Security and Consular Lists, and Lists of Members of Parliament and of the Executive Council, will therefore be printed in extenso in the 'CIVIL SERVICE LIST.' Colonial Secretary's Office, Cape of Good Hope, 2nd April, 1886."]

Part VI.

INSTITUTION OF GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS, AND DUTIES OF CERTAIN OFFICERS.

The departments conducting the public business of the country are arranged in five divisions, each being under the control of a Minister of the Crown, responsible to Parliament, the whole being under the general supervision and control of the Prime Minister, who is the medium of communication with His Excellency the Governor, viz.:—

1. Colonial Secretary.
2. Treasurer of the Colony.
3. Attorney-General.
4. Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works.
5. Secretary for Native Affairs.

The Prime Minister has an office distinct from the Ministerial Department of which he is the head, viz.: the Prime Minister's Office. [Vide page 23.]

1.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Before the introduction of Responsible Government in 1872 the Colonial Secretary or Secretary to Government exercised a general control over every department of the Public Service; but since the principle was adopted of Ministerial responsibility to Parliament the Colonial Secretary's supervision is restricted to the departments of Agriculture, the Divisional Courts and Offices throughout the Colony, the Education Department, the various Hospitals and Asylums and other medical institutions, the Post Office (including Telegraphs), the Cape Police Force, and the several departments connected with the defence of the Colony.

1872 Sir J. C. Molteno, K.C.M.G.
1878 Sir J. Gordon Sprigg, K.C.M.G.
1881 Sir J. C. Molteno, K.C.M.G.
1882 Sir T. C. Scanlen, K.C.M.G.
1884 Jonathan Ayliff.
1885 John Tudhope.

Inspecting Civil Commissioner.

Amongst other duties he is to investigate and verify the Chests and Accounts of Civil Commissioners and Distributors of Stamps, to report upon the condition and management of Gaols and Gaol Hospitals, to satisfy the Government as to the efficiency of Gaol and Police officials, and generally to inquire into and report upon all matters and things in each Division connected with the conduct of public business, or in which the Government is in any way interested or concerned.—[Government Notice, No. 791, 9th Sept., 1886.]

Department of Agriculture.

This Department (which was first formed in 1887) deals with all duties appertaining to the following subjects, viz:—

1. Viticulture.
2. Tobacco Culture.
3. Agricultural Societies and Schools and Botanical Gardens.
4. Game Laws.
5. Phylloxera.
6. Diseases of Cattle, and the Scab Acts.
7. Improvement of the breed of horses.

1. Viticulture.—The system introduced by Baron Von Babo, of making wines entirely on the European principle, has had happy results, and doubtless in a few years the benefit thereby to the Colony at large will be appreciably felt.

2. Tobacco Culture.—An experimental farm near Oudtshoorn is being worked under the Tobacco Expert, who hopes by the introduction of the very best foreign tobacco-seed, and the discrimination of the best methods of cultivation and preparation, to effect, in time, a permanent improvement in this product.

3. Agricultural Schools.—It is proposed to establish one in the Eastern Districts, in addition to that already in existence at Stellenbosch, and to bring both institutions directly into communication with the Department of Agriculture.

4. Game Laws.—Advantage has been taken within the past year of that clause of the Game Law Amendment Act that empowers the Governor to protect for a certain period, when requested to do so by the local Divisional Councils, particular kinds of Game; and this action is being attended with the happiest results, in preserving from extinction those of the more rare and valuable descriptions of bucks, such as Koodoo, Eland, Hartebeeste, Bonteboks, &c., whose entire disappearance from the Colony would otherwise become a mere matter of a few years' time; and this action in protecting these rare animals is the more gratifying, coming as it does at the instigation of the sportsmen and farming community generally of the districts locally interested.

5. Phylloxera.—A large amount of very necessary work has been carried out under the provisions of the Vineyards Protection Act, by the Inspector of Vineyards.

6. The Scab Acts, the operations of which only came into effect on 1st July, 1887, have worked thoroughly well, answering every expectation of Government and of the farming communities in the proclaimed areas, by whom the benefits resulting from these Acts are now entirely appreciated—and by whom also cordial assistance is rendered to the respective Scab Inspectors.

The following is a list of the different Areas and the Officers appointed to each :—

1. Queenstown*, F. C. Webb, jun.
2. Tarka, Marthinus Wessel Pretorius.
3. Queenstown*, Joseph H. Barnes.
4. Cathcart, H. W. Brown.
4A. Stockenstrom, Bernard Niland.
5. Komgha, J. G. Sparks.
5A. Stutterheim, R. Warren.
6. King William's Town*, Jas. Bouchier Kettles.
6A. East London, John Bennett, jun.
7. Victoria East, Roger P. Metterlekamp.
8. Albany, W. L. Currie.
9. Bathurst, Alexandria and Peddie, James Long.
10. Fort Beaufort, W. H. Pedlar.
11. Bedford, Allen Davidson.
12. Somerset East, northern half, E. H. Pietersen.
13. Somerset East, southern half, Fred. Bowker.
14. Humansdorp, Jacobus Louwrens.
15. Uitenhage and Port Elizabeth, William Jacklin.
16. Jansenville, David Hobson Nash.
17. Graaff-Reinet*, F. L. McCabe.
17A. Graaff-Reinet*, Walter Everitt Murray.
18. Murraysburg, D. C. S. Grobbelaar.
19. Knysna, F. H. Newdigate.

The pay of each Inspector is £250 per annum, i.e., £200 salary and £50 forage allowance, excepting the officers at Knysna and East London, who receive £100 and £125 inclusive, respectively.

7. Improvement of the Breed of Horses.—Nine stallions were purchased in England last season with this object. Two have since died. The remaining seven have been stationed for breeding purposes at various centres in the Colony, under the supervision of the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon, whose duties also include all matters appertaining to the Animals Diseases Act.

* Part of Division.

Control and Audit Office.

The Offices of Controller and Auditor-General and Assistant Controller and Auditor were created by Act No. 30 of 1875, "To provide for the more effectual audit of the public accounts of this Colony." Since the passing of this Act the powers and duties of these officers have been modified: firstly, in 1883, by the exemption from their audit of the accounts of the House of Assembly, under the provisions of Act 13 of 1883; and secondly by Act 32 of 1888, by which departmental audit of revenue has been legalized and extended, an Exchequer Account has been legalized, and the Act of 1875 has been in other respects amended.

The rules and regulations framed by the Controller and Auditor-General under the provisions of the Audit Act, at present in force, were published by the following Government Notices :—

1879 No. 1,069*			Special Regulations and Forms of Accounts relative to expenditure on the construction of railways.
†1882 ,, 679	I		Plans of Account Books and Accounts for C.C.s and Accounting Officers.
†1883 ,, 22	II
‡1883 ,, 1,259	III		Plan of Accounts re Postal Revenue, Money Orders and Savings Bank.
‡1884 ,, 141
§1886 ,, 593	IV		Plan of Account Books and Accounts for the Treasury.
§1886 ,, 867	V		Do. do. for Magistrates in Transkeian Territories.

In consequence of the passing of Act 32 of 1888 the Audit Regulations 1—477 and Stamp Regulations 1—139 are in course of revision and consolidation, but, the amended regulations not having as yet been published, an exact reference to them cannot be given.

Regulations numbered 1—44 for Colonial Stock have also been framed by the Controller and Auditor-General, under the provisions of the 17th Section of the Colonial Stock Act, 1888, and have been published in Government Notice No. 751 of 1888.

The present holders of the above-mentioned offices were appointed shortly after the Act was passed in 1875.

Progress of the Post Office during 1888.

The last issue of the Civil Service List having contained an account of the origin and growth of the Postal Department in the Cape Colony, from the earliest date up to the close of the year 1887, it may be interesting to continue the record in this year's issue of the List, and furnish some particulars of the further steps which have been taken during the year 1888, with a view of extending the usefulness of the Department and perfecting its organization.

The most important event of the year has been the conclusion of a new mail contract for the conveyance of mails between Table Bay and the United Kingdom. Negotiations with the Union and Castle Companies which began in October, 1887, were continued without intermission until the 1st February, 1888, when a final settlement on all points in dispute was arrived at and the contract signed.

Favourable as had been the arrangements under the contract of 1883 as compared with those under the preceding contract, the Government obtained conditions under the new contract which cannot but be regarded as in the highest degree satisfactory. The time to be occupied during the voyages has been reduced from 21½ days via Madeira and 22½ days via Madeira and St. Helena to 20 days and 20 days 18 hours respectively. Premiums for speed which, in 1887, amounted to £31,502 1s. 8d., no longer form an item of expense to the tax-payer, and the punctual performance of each voyage is assured by the imposition of heavy fines in case the steamers should at any time arrive after the expiration of the prescribed periods. The number of calls to be made at St. Helena is less than under the old contract by 13 annually, as the steamers are to touch there every third and fifth week on both the outward and homeward voyages. Perhaps one of the most important benefits which will be reaped by the public in connection with the Ocean Mail Service under the new contract is the establishment of the overland route via Lisbon. The Imperial Post Office has assented to the despatch of a supplementary mail from London by this route at 8·20 a.m. on Saturdays, and an agreement has been come to with the Portuguese Postal Administration, under which mails from Continental countries are sent direct to Lisbon, to be shipped on board the Mail Steamers, which call there every Monday on the outward voyage. Formerly it was the practice for all such correspondence to be sent through London; but the mails, being despatched direct through France and Portugal in the "Wagons-lits" express, a saving in time of from 40 to 60 hours is effected. At present the homeward mails for continental countries, with the exception of Portugal, are landed at Plymouth, or Southampton, but no doubt advantage will at some future time be taken of the Lisbon route in this direction. Permission has been accorded to the companies to touch at Las Palmas, the chief port of the Canaries, whic is rapidly rising in importance as a health resort, but so far the Castle Packets Company only have availed themselves of the privilege. But the change most welcomed by the public generally, in England as well as in the Colony, has been the reduction of postage from 6d to 4d. There is little doubt that this reduction will lead to an increase in the number of letters circulated between the Mother Country and the Colony, and that therefore the comfort and convenience of all classes will materially be advanced. The rates of postage between England and Bechuanaland have also been lowered from 8d. to 6d. While there will be a loss in the first instance on the postage on letters between the Colony and England, the large saving in s speed premiums will in the nett result show a considerable balance in favour of the Colony. Post-cards will also shortly be introduced for circulation between the Cape Colony and England, for a postage of 1½d. But besides all these improvements in the letter carrying branch of the Department, the postage on parcels for places in the United Kingdom has been reduced from 1s. to 9d. per lb. when posted in Cape Town, and from 1s. 4d. to 1s. per lb. when posted in other parts of the Colony. These reductions took effect from the 1st October, 1888, and on the 1st of January of the present year the Department found itself in a position to introduce the crowning act of postal reform, viz.:—the establishment of an Inland Penny Post.

In order to supplement the benefits to be derived from the increased speed of the ocean service and to counteract the effect of the slight detention to which the steamers are subjected while waiting for the overland mail at Lisbon, a service of special express trains has been organized from Cape Town when the vessels arrive late on Wednesday or early on Thursday (and this happens in a majority of cases). By this means the mails for the Diamond Fields, Transvaal, Port Elizabeth and the Eastern Districts generally are delivered in considerably less time than was formerly possible. For example, on the first occasion of the Lisbon route being used the London Mails of Saturday, 6th October, reached Kimberley in 20 days 11 hours, Johannesburg in 23 days 4 hours, and Port Elizabeth in 20 days 22 hours.

In October, 1887, an exchange of money orders was established between the Cape Colony and the four principal offices in the Transvaal, but the business developed so rapidly that at the present time no less than 21 offices have been created in that State. On the 1st March, 1888, the Telegraphic Money Order System was extended to Bechuanaland, and on the 1st October a reduction was effected in the rates of commission on money orders drawn in the United States of America.

A re-issue of the Postal Route Map, corrected to October, 1888, lately took place. It includes every post office in the South African Republic, Natal, British Bechuanaland, and the Orange Free State, and it is believed to be of much assistance to the general public as well as to the officers of the Department.

Telegraphs.

The progress made by this branch during 1888 has been satisfactory, both as regards the number of messages and the revenue derived therefrom. During the late session of Parliament the following additions and extensions were authorized, the present wire accommodation having been found to be insufficient, and as it was considered desirable by Parliament that certain villages should be connected with the general telegraph system.

Additions to existing Wires.—Cape Town to Worcester, Worcester to Touws River, De Aar to Kimberley, Fauresmith to Kimberley.

New Lines of Wire.—Knysna to Millwood, De Aar to Britstown, Piquetberg to Porterville, Burghersdorp to Venterstad, Somerset West to the Strand, a loop line to Hebron, and a double wire from Kimberley to the Transvaal Border. This last named extension is a most important one, as it will, when completed, entirely obviate the necessity of using the Free State line between Bloemfontein and Pretoria. It is, moreover, hoped that the delays to traffic, which have been somewhat frequent, will be reduced to a minimum.

The West Coast Cable Extension from St. Paul de Loando to Table Bay will in all probability be open for traffic at an early date.

Telephone exchanges are established in Cape Town, Port Elizabeth and East London, and are subscribed to by the principal Government officials, merchants, and others. The telephone has here, as elsewhere, been found to be of immense assistance to business generally.

Cape Police.

The Government was empowered by Act No. 12 of 1882 to define certain portions of the Colony as "Police Districts," and to appoint the necessary officers and men, mounted and unmounted, to serve as a Police Force for the preservation of peace and the prevention and detection of crime, and generally to perform such other duties as the Act in question or any rule or regulation made by the Government may require. The Cape Police may be employed outside their respective districts and also beyond the Colonial boundary. The rules and regulations under the provisions of Act No. 12 of 1882, including general instructions for the guidance of the Police, are contained in a printed manual, which is confidentially issued to every member of the force.

The Divisions comprising the Police Districts at present existing were indicated by Government Notices hereunder enumerated :—

II.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE TREASURER OF THE COLONY.

The duties devolving upon the Ministerial Head of this Division have materially increased in degree and importance since the introduction, in 1872, of Responsible Government. The Treasurer of the Colony is no longer simply the depository of the revenues and moneys of the Crown, charged only with their safe custody, and their issue under fixed regulations or instructions from time to time issued by the Governor of the Colony, but he is now clothed with all the duties and responsibilities appertaining in England to the Treasury and its Parliamentary Head, the Chancellor of the Exchequer. He is now Controller of the Revenue, responsible for its proper and prompt collection. Where any shortfall is expected or occurs it is his duty to devise measures for temporary relief, or for permanent increase by new measures of taxation. Where expenditure is found necessary for which provision has not been made by Parliament, or when Parliamentary provision for any service is exhausted, it devolves upon him to state whether there are funds at his disposal to meet the unforeseen demands, and if not to provide them, and to recommend to the Premier the issue of the Covering Warrant. He is charged with all internal financial arrangements, and with the transfer from the Colony to its Agent in England of the moneys required to meet disbursements there; and lastly by him must a full exposition of the financial affairs of the whole Colony be given to Parliament in the annual Budget Speech. The Customs are included in this Ministerial Division, and also the Excise Department.

Agent-General, Sir Charles Mills, K.C.M.G., C.B.

This department opened its offices on the 10th October, 1882.

No Brokers or Sub-Agents are employed. All supplies are bought direct from the manufacturers or in the cheapest market, in Railway and technical matters on the advice of the Consulting Engineers, and unless specially ordered, from a firm named in the indent, after competitive tender. All clerical work in and out of the office, at the docks, and even occasionally at ports other than London, is done by the staff itself. All goods are inspected by competent Inspectors before being packed and shipped. The records of the office are in perfect order, and contain copies of every document worth preserving. The accounts and duplicate vouchers are bound monthly, other documents annually. Much of the correspondence has, of necessity, been in French and German.

There is much political business with the Colonial Office, and offical business with most of the Imperial offices in London.

Thousands of inquiries respecting the Colony, its Statute Law, climate, railways, telegraphs, and other public works, and persons living or who are supposed to have died, or married there, are annually answered. The Secretary has twice been called upon to give evidence in Court respecting the Statute Law of the Colony.

For the Emigration work (now reduced to very little) there is a separate Agent, who assists occasionally of late in the General Office. All his staff, except one assistant (now practically the resident office-keeper of the whole Department), has been discharged.

Some figures indicating the extent of business done in this office during the year 1885 were published in the Civil Service List for 1887, page 89.

All the colonial newspapers of importance may be seen at the Agency. The weekly issues of the Cape Times and Argus are bound and preserved.

Numerous photographs of the Colonial Towns, Works, Buildings, &c., ornament the walls of the offices.

Colonists obtain certificates here that they are British subjects, on producing which at the Foreign Office they procure passports.

Customs.

Up to the year 1854 the Customs Establishment was under the direct control of the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury and the Commissioners of Customs. On Parliamentary Government being established, in lieu, in 1854, the Customs establishment was transferred to the Colonial Government on the 11th October, 1883. The office of Assistant Collector was made when the Treasurer occupied the position of Collector; it is now abolished, the duties being practically performed by the Chief Clerk.

III.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The Attorney-General is vested with the right and entrusted with the duty of prosecuting in the name and on behalf of Her Majesty all crimes and offences committed in the Colony. Special duties in connection with the internal administration of the Colony are imposed upon this officer by a very large number of the statutes. He is also the legal adviser of the Government, and, as Minister, controls the department connected with the administration of justice. During the year 1885 the Detective force for the suppression of illicit diamond buying was removed from the Ministerial supervision of the Colonial Secretary, and placed under that of the Attorney-General. On the 1st July, 1887, the Deeds Registry Office was transferred from the Colonial Secretary's Ministerial division to that of the Attorney-General, and the Convict Department was transferred from the Commissioner's Ministerial division on the 1st January, 1888. The Secretary to the Law Department is the permament head of this ministerial division.

Courts of Justice.

The Superior Courts of the Colony are four in number, viz:

The Supreme, Eastern District, High and Circuit Courts.

Supreme Court.

"The Supreme Court of the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope," constituted by the Charter of Justice, consists of the Chief Justice and eight Puisne Judges (Act No. 40, 1882, § 2), but it is generally held before the Chief Justice and two Puisne Judges; of the remaining Judges, three are assigned to the Eastern Districts Court, (Act No. 5, 1879, § 3), and three to the High Court, (Act No. 40, 1882, § 6);—although there is nothing to prevent all the Judges sitting and taking part in the determination of any cause, civil or criminal, which shall be heard before the Supreme Court. (Acts No. 40, 1882, § 4, and 17, 1886, § 2.) One Judge, out of term, is clothed with all the powers of the Supreme Court. (Rule of Court No. 354.)

The Supreme Court, opened on the 1st March, 1834, by Proclamation dated the 13th day of February of the same year, has jurisdiction over the whole Colony. (Charter of Justice, § 30.) Two Judges form a quorum (except out of term, when one Judge may sit), and in case of any difference of opinion between such two, the decision of the Court shall be suspended until all three Judges are present. (Act No. 40, 1882, §§ 3, 33.) An appeal in civil cases lies direct to the Privy Council from the decision of the Supreme Court. (Charter of Justice, § 50.)

Act No. 5, 1879, established a Court of Appeal for the Colony, but by Act No 17, 1886, that Court was abolished, and all powers conferred upon it were vested in the Supreme Court. Every appeal to the Supreme Court from the Eastern Districts, High or Circuit Courts shall be heard before not less than three Judges, one of whom shall be the Chief Justice, and two of them shall be Puisne Judges specially assigned to the Supreme Court. In any appeal against the unanimous judgment of the full Eastern Districts or High Courts, such judgment shall be affirmed unless three or more of the Judges sitting in appeal shall concur in reversing or varying it. (Act No. 17, 1886, §§ 1, 5.)

The officers of the Court, who issue all its process and record all its decisions, are the "Registrar or Prothonotary and Keeper of Records," and the "Assistant Registrar." Copies of all laws passed by the Legislature of this Colony, signed by the Governor, the President of the Legislative Council, and the Speaker of the House of Assembly, are enrolled of record in this office, together with certificates of disallowances of bills, certified under the public seal of the Colony. (Cons. Ord., §§ 86, 87.)

In addition to this all legal records are here preserved, dating as far back as 1652,

"The Court of the Eastern Districts of the Cape of Good Hope" was established by Act No. 21, 1864, and is composed of three Judges of the Supreme Court, one of whom is called the Judge President. (Act No. 5, 1879, § 3.) The same rule as to a quorum obtains in this Court as in the Supreme Court. (Act No. 5, 1879, §§ 3, 5.) The Eastern Districts Court has jurisdiction throughout the Eastern Districts concurrent with that of the Supreme Court (Act No. 21, 1864, § 9), and within the territories known as the Transkei and Griqualand East. (Act No. 40, 1882, § 17.)

(Act No. 40, 1882, §§ 6, 8.) It has concurrent jurisdiction in the Province of Griqualand West with the Supreme Court. (Act No. 39, 1877, § 10.)

CIRCUIT COURTS.

Circuit Courts, held twice at least in each year in each of the districts into which the Colony is divided, are presided over by the Chief Justice or one of the Puisne Judges of the Supreme Court (Charter of Justice, § 38), and have the same jurisdiction within the district in which a court is held as is vested in the Supreme Court. (Charter of Justice, § 39.)

that the duties discharged by that body should, from the 1st March, 1834, be performed by the Master of the Supreme Court. What the duties so transferred consist of is set forth in Ordinances Nos. 104 and 105, entitled respectively "Ordinance for Regulating the Registration of Wills and the Administration of the Estates and Property of Persons dying either testate or intestate, in so far as the same are situated within this Colony," and "Ordinance for providing for the due Administration and Management of the Estates and Property of Minors, Lunatics, and Persons absent from the Colony, and for the proper Care of the Persons of Minors and Lunatics." The titles of these Ordinances to some extent indicate the scope of the functions exercised by this Department.—[Vide G. 79—'82.]

Insolvency and Law Branch.

The powers and duties of the Master over Insolvent Estates within the Colony are defined by Ordinance No. 6 of 1843, entituled "Ordinance for regulating the due collection, administration, and distribution of Insolvent Estates within this Colony."—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 61.]

Deeds Registry Office.

An account of the institution of this office, and of the registration of deeds at the Cape of Good Hope for the last two hundred years, having appeared in three previous editions of the Civil Service List (1885, 6, 7) it is not reprinted. By the annexation of Griqualand East the Deeds Registry there, as a separate department, ceased to exist, and all Deeds from that Province are now registered here.

This office has likewise copies of the West Griqualand and King William's Town Debt and Transfer Registries.

The Sheriff.

The Sheriff of the Colony (or High Sheriff, as he is generally styled) is annually appointed by the Governor, under the provisions of the Charter of Justice, for the purpose of carrying out the decrees of the Supreme and Circuit Courts.

In connection with those Courts his duties are regulated by Statute, and by Rules framed from time to time by the Judges. They comprise the execution, personally or by deputy, of all civil process for summoning and arresting persons, for recovering amounts of judgment, and carrying out other orders of Court. Since 1881 they comprise also the realization of landed property declared executable by the decrees of the Supreme Court and Western Circuit Courts. In regard to criminal process, he is charged with the duty of securing the atttendance of jurors, of executing writs, and of carrying out sentences of capital and corporal punishment.

For the effectual discharge of these functions he deputes, under his hand and seal, suitable persons to act on his behalf, either generally within certain limits, or specially for the service or execution of particular process. As a safeguard for the protection of the public, the High Sheriff is required to give substantial security to the Crown, and each deputy to the High Sheriff, for faithful compliance with their respective obligations.

The Deputy Sheriff of Albany and the Deputy Sheriff of Kimberley are, in regard to the Eastern Districts and High Courts respectively, charged with the duties connected with the sale of real property in addition to their ordinary duties as representatives of the High Sheriff in regard to Supreme Court process. All other processes of these two Courts are executed by the Deputy Sheriffs of the several districts.

The permanent officers of the High Sheriff's Department are occupied in scrutinizing all steps taken by the Deputies, and in regulating their remuneration according to the Tariff, not only in respect of process of the Supreme and Western Circuit Courts (for the due execution of which the High Sheriff is personally responsible), but also in respect of the process of the other superior Courts.—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 62.]

Detective Force.

Established under the provisions of Griqualand West Ordinance No. 11 of 1880, which was passed with a view to the suppression of diamond stealing from the mines, and was subsequently amended and supplemented by Act No. 48 of 1882. Appointments to the force, which are of a temporary nature, are made by the Government. All fines recovered under the said Acts, and the proceeds of all diamonds forfeited and sold, are paid into the public Treasury for the maintenance of the force. Revenue is also derived from a system of registration of rough diamonds, the fee (amounting to one-half per cent. on the value of the diamonds) being devoted, three-fourth towards the maintenance of the force, and one-fourth to be administered by the Mining Protection Board, appointed under Act No. 48 of 1882, for the protection of mining interests. The various mining boards are liable, however, for any deficiency there may be in the revenues thus obtained for maintaining the force. The force was created in 1882 under the supervision of the late Mr. Fry, whose appointment was dated the 4th May, 1882. He was succeeded by Mr. Roper, appointed Chief of the Detective Department on the 1st May, 1885. The latter also holds the appointment of Commissioner of Police, Kimberley and Barkly West.

IV.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF THE COMMISSIONER OF CROWN LANDS AND PUBLIC WORKS.

The Office of Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works was created by Act No. 1 of 1872 on the first introduction of Responsible Government. The Commissioner is charged with the administration of the Land Laws of the Colony, and with the administrative control and supervision of Public Works of all kinds, including the Government Railways, Government Buildings, Public Road communications, Bridges, Tolls, Ferries, Lighthouses and Harbour Works, Woods and Forests, Ports and Harbours, Diamond and other Mines and Mineral Deposits, Geological Explorations, Irrigation and Water Supply, and Immigration.

The Crown Lands and Public Works Office is divided into two branches, each directed by a responsible head. The Assistant Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works, who is also Permanent Head and Accounting Officer of the Department, has charge of all Public Works, Woods and Forests, Ports and Harbours, Works of Irrigation and Water Supply constructed with Loans under Act No. 11 of 1882, and Immigration. The Secretary for Lands and Mines directs the administration of the Land Laws and the control of Diamond and other Mineral Deposits, and Irrigation and Waterworks constructed with loans of public money under the Irrigation Acts.

Commissioners of Crown Lands and Public Works.

1875 J. X. Merriman.
1878 John Laing.
1881 J. X. Merriman.
1884 F. Schermbrucker.

Woods and Forests.

Until the year 1876 the control over Crown Forests was exercised through the Civil Commissioner of the Division in which the forest lay. In 1876, "Forests and Plantations" was constituted a separate Department of the Ministerial Division, its principal officers corresponding directly with the Ministerial Office.

Digitized by Google

In 1880 Parliament sanctioned the appointment of a Superintendent of Woods and Forests; and in January, 1881, the Office was conferred upon the Count de Vasselot de Régné, of the Department of the "Eaux et Forets" of the Government of France. The result has been the organization of the system of Forest working and Conservancy on the scientific system of the French School, the principles of which are adopted in the "Regulation for the Working of Crown Forests," published under Government Notice No. 406 of 1883. The principal Tariffs of Licences to fell Timber in Crown Forests are given in Government Notices Nos. 361 of 1875, 406 of 1883, 508 of 1885, 23 of 1886, 24 of 1886, 30 of 1887 and 192 of 1888.

Diamond Mines.

Upon the annexation to the Colony of the Province of Griqualand West the administration of the Laws and Regulations for Diamond Mines and Diggings devolved upon the Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works, and has since formed part of the duties of the Secretary for Lands and Mines. The Inspectors of Mines and Claims correspond directly with the Ministerial Office. The administration of the Diamond Mines includes the control of the Vooruitzigt Estate through the local Manager, who corresponds through the Civil Commissioner of Kimberley.

Knysna Gold Fields.

The Millwood Gold Fields Area was proclaimed an Alluvial Digging and Mine by Proclamations Nos. 4 and 12 of 1887, when an Inspector and Registrar of Mines were appointed as officers of the Ministerial Division of Crown Lands and Public Works.

Surveyor-General's Office.

This Department of Government has existed under various designations from the earliest times in the history of Colonial Land Registration. The Land Records dating from 1657 were, in the beginning of British Administration, kept in the Colonial Office, and were transferred to the custody of the Superintendent of Lands and Woods in 1819. This appointment, which was held by Baron Van Collot d'Escury, was in 1828 altered to that of Surveyor-General in the person of Colonel Michell, R.A., on whose retirement in 1848 the late Mr. Charles Bell was appointed by Royal Warrant, dated Osborne House, 31st August, 1848. In 1872 the present Surveyor-General succeeded to the office, the duties of which may be classed under the following heads:—

(1.) Appertaining to survey of land under Land Acts, and the control and examination of Surveyors' work; also the settlement of disputes under Acts 7 of 1865, 8 of 1866, and 9 of 1879.
(2.) Registration of land sold or granted.
(3.) Sales of Crown lands.
(4.) Supplying information to legal practitioners and the public.
(5.) Construction of Maps.
(6.) Land revenue and expenditure.
(7.) Custody of all original title-deeds.
(8.) Examining Candidates for admission as Surveyors.

The Surveyor-General also holds the appointment of Expropriation Commissioner for Western Railways.—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 67. For Land Surveyors, vide Part IX.]

Public Works Department.

Until the year 1848 the Department now under the directions of the Chief Inspector of Public Works was for the most part controlled by the Surveyor-General, whose office combined the posts of Civil Engineer and Superintendent of Works. In 1848 it was for the first time separately organised under the direction of the "Colonial Civil Engineer," the holder of the office being Captain George Pilkington, Royal Engineers.

The Department had not at that time control of the Road communications, which were still in charge of the Central Board of Commissioners of Public Roads, constituted under the provisions of Ordinance No. 8 of 1843.

In 1858 the Roads Act No. 9 was passed, which abolished the Central Road Board, vesting their powers and authorities in an officer to be styled the Chief Commissioner of Roads. Upon the recommendation of the Select Committee on the Colonial Engineer's Department, appointed by the House of Assembly in 1859, this office was conjoined with that of the Colonial Civil Engineer; when the Department assumed the control of Public Roads, and extended its organization to what practically it has since remained. In 1865 the title of the Head was changed to "Chief Inspector of Roads, Bridges, and Buildings," and in 1866 to "Chief Inspector of Public Works," in use at the present day. The charge of Roads, Bridges, Buildings, Lighthouses and certain Harbour Works are entrusted to the care of this Department, and the Hydraulic work of the Colony was transferred to it in June, 1886.

Government Railways.

In 1859 Governor Sir George Grey cut the first sod of the Cape Town and Wellington Railway (57 miles). In 1863 it was opened for traffic; in 1872 it was purchased by the Government for £773,000.

In 1863 the construction of the line from Salt River Junction to Wynberg was commenced; in 1864 it was opened for traffic, and in 1876 it was purchased by Government for £75,000.

In 1872 the Government commenced the construction of Railways under the control of the Public Works Department; in 1873 the Railway Department was constituted, and works of construction vigorously proceeded with.

Mr. Brounger, M. Inst, C.E., was the first Railway Engineer and Head of the Department until 1875, when the three Systems of Railways, now known as Western, Midland and Eastern, were separated, and a Chief Resident Engineer appointed to each; Mr. Brounger retained the Western System, and acted also as Consulting Engineer.

In December, 1880, Mr. C. B. Elliott, LL.B. (until then Assistant Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works), was appointed General Manager of the three Systems opened for Traffic. In 1881 a Railway Board, consisting of the Commissioner of Crown Lands and Public Works, the General Manager and the Railway Engineer, was appointed, and existed till 1884, when, upon Mr. Brounger's retirement (on pension) Construction also was placed under control of the General Manager, and Mr. H. J. Pauling, M. Inst. C.E., was appointed Engineer-in-Chief.

Construction was continued with slight intermission up to 1886, the termini reached being Malmesbury, Kalk Bay, and Kimberley from Cape Town; Graaff-Reinet, Colesberg, Graham's Town, and Kimberley from Port Elizabeth (the Graham's Town Line being extended thence to the "Kowie" by the Graham's Town and Port Alfred Railway Company); and Aliwal North and King William's Town from East London.

In 1888 various proposals were made in Parliament for Extensions; the following were authorized:—

1. From Kimberley to the Vaal River, and bridge over that river, at "Fourteen Streams," (a distance of 57 miles), a point equally convenient for continuation either to Bechuanaland or to the Transvaal.
2. From Colesberg to the Orange River, a distance of 16 miles, including a bridge over that river, at a point convenient for continuation into the Free State towards Bloemfontein.
3. From Eerste River (21 miles from Cape Town) through Somerset West and Strand to Sir Lowry's Pass, in the direction of Caledon.

The Bill for connecting the Midland and Eastern Systems by a Junction Line was not passed, but authority was given for obtaining detailed surveys of the several proposed routes for submission to the next Parliament. These surveys are being proceeded with.

Working surveys for the Extensions 1, 2, and 3 are well advanced, and tenders will be invited as soon as they are ready. The permanent way material was ordered by cable.

V.—MINISTERIAL DIVISION OF SECRETARY FOR NATIVE AFFAIRS.

The administration of the Secretary for Native Affairs, whose office was created by the Responsible Government Act of 1882, is entirely confined to those aborigines within the Colony who are not sufficiently civilized to be brought under the ordinary law. These natives are placed in carefully selected localities, under superintendents, whose official communications are made through the Civil Commissioners of their respective districts. The native territories beyond the Kei, which, with the exceptions of a few Europeans, are inhabited entirely by aborigines, are divided into the three chief magistracies of the Transkei, Tembuland, and Griqualand East, and are under the immediate control of this Minister. The Resident Magistrates at Port St. John's and Walfish Bay are not included in the jurisdiction of any Chief Magistrate, but communicate direct with the Ministerial Office in Cape Town. The office of Special Commissioner at Upington was abolished from 1st July, 1888, the magistracy of Kenhardt being established on the south side of the Orange River.

Secretaries for Native Affairs.

Transkei.

Total area, 2,535 square miles; population, approximate, Europeans, 893; coloured, 126,120.

Consists of Fingoland and Idutywa Reserve, 1,545 square miles, obtained by conquest in 1858. The present inhabitants of Idutywa were located there in 1858, and of Fingoland in 1865. The territory was annexed to the Colony by virtue of a Proclamation of Sir Bartle Frere, No. 112 of 1879, under the Transkei Annexation Act, No. 38 of 1877. Magistrates are maintained at Nqamakwe, Butterworth, Idutywa, and Tsomo.

Galekaland is also a part of this chief magistracy. It is 990 square miles in extent, and was obtained by conquest in 1877-8. It was formerly ruled by the Governor under a Commission, dated the 14th November, 1881, [vide Civil Service List 1885, pages 41-2], through the administration of the Secretary for Native Affairs, but was annexed to the Colony by a Proclamation of Sir Hercules Robinson, No. 140 of 1885, under the Act No. 3 of 1885.

Tembuland.

Tembuland Proper, Emigrant Tembuland, and Bomvanaland comprise together 4,055 square miles. Population, approximate, Europeans, 5,504; coloured, 133,914. Tembuland Proper was obtained in 1875 by a cession from Gangelizwe, chief of the country and people. Emigrant Tembuland was obtained by conquest in 1858, and its present inhabitants were located there in 1865. The acts of cession, conquest, and location have been confirmed by the Imperial Government. The stations of Magistrates in Tembuland Proper and Emigrant Tembuland are:—Umtata, Mqanduli, Engcobo, St. Mark's and Xalanga.

Bomvanaland, which is included in the chief magistracy of Tembuland, is situated to the east of the Bashee, on the sea coast, extending about half way across to Pondoland. In 1877 a Resident was placed with the Chief Moni, for the better protection of colonial interests; on the 7th January, 1878, the country was taken into military occupation, by consent of the chief, and on the 28th February of that year it was ceded to the British Government. A magistrate is stationed at Elliotdale.

Tembuland Proper, Emigrant Tembuland, and Bomvanaland were annexed to the Colony by a Proclamation of Sir Hercules Robinson, No. 140 of 1885, under the Act No. 2 of 1885.—[Vide Civil Establishment, pages 77-8.]

Griqualand East.

Extent, 7,511 square miles; population, approximate, Europeans, 3,416; coloured, 105,911.

Griqualand East was ceded by Faku in 1861. The tribes and clans inhabitating it were brought under Government at different times between 1873 and 1875. The Act annexing this territory to the Colony was passed in 1877, No. 38, and the Governor's Proclamation completing it was issued on the 17th September, 1879. There are magistrates stationed at Kokstad, Umzimkulu, Matatiele, Mount Fletcher, Maclear, Tsolo, Qumbu and Mount Frere.

The Xesibe District (Mount Ayliff) is now included in this chief magistracy, and is about 240 square miles. The Xesibes, under their Chief Jojo, were received as British subjects in 1878, but the land was not annexed to the Colony until the Act No. 37 of 1886 had been confirmed by Her Majesty, when a Proclamation No. 174, 25th October, 1886, was accordingly issued by the Officer Administering the Government, effecting the annexation from that day under limits therein defined. In 1886 a plot of land called the Rode Valley, 31 square miles in extent, was purchased from the Pondo chief Umquikela, and was added to this chief magistracy. It was formally annexed by Proclamation of H. E. the Governor, No. 199, dated 27th October, 1887, under the Act No. 45 of 1887, confirmed by Her Majesty on the 15th of the following September.—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 78.]

Port St. John's.

The Port of St. John's consists of about sixteen square miles of land on the western bank of the river, purchased in 1878 from Nquiliso, and of the tidal estuary and eastern bank, up to the lower drift, proclaimed British possessions by Lord Chelmsford on the 31st August, 1878, and confirmed as such by a proclamation of Sir Bartle Frere, No. 68, dated the 4th September, 1878. For some years it was controlled by the Governor under a Royal Commission, dated the 27th July, 1881, appointing the Governor of the Colony for the time being to be Governor of the St. John's River Territory [vide Government Notice, No. 1,013, 1881], but by Proclamation of Sir Hercules Robinson, No. 215, of the 15th September, 1884, it was annexed to the Colony under the Act No. 35 of 1884,—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 78.]

Northern Border.

UPINGTON.

Office of Special Commissioner abolished 1st July, 1888.

Walfish Bay.

Annexed to the Colony by Proclamation of Sir Hercules Robinson, No. 184, dated the 7th August, 1884, under the provisions of the Act No. 35 of that year.—[Vide Civil Establishment, page 77.]

PUBLIC HEALTH BOARDS.

The Public Health Act, No. 4 of 1883, was promulgated by proclamation dated the first October, 1883. Syphillis, cholera, and yellow fever have been declared to be diseases to which the Act shall apply, in addition to small-pox, which is specially mentioned in the Act, and regulations have been framed under the provisions of the Act respecting quarantine, vaccination, and infectious and contagious diseases.

The term "local authority," referred to in these regulations, is thus defined in the Act:—

§ 2. In the construction of this Act the term "local authority" shall mean:
The council or board of commissioners of any municipality;
The board of management of any community in which the "Villages Management Act, 1881," is in operation;
A board consisting of no more than five persons nominated by the Governor for the purpose of carrying the provisions of this Act into effect, within any area to be fixed by the Governor by proclamation;
The resident magistrate, or special justice of the peace (if any, or as the case may be) residing in any town or village which is not a municipality, or in which the said "Village Management Act" is not in operation, or in which no such board as aforesaid has been appointed to act; and, when there shall be no such resident magistrate, special justice of the peace, or board, any justice of the peace residing in such town or village. The area within which such resident magistrate or special or other justice of the peace, as the case may be, shall exercise authority, shall be such as the Governor may by proclamation determine.

Act No. 40 of 1887 extends the definition of the term "local authority" so as to include divisional councils.

REGULATIONS.

Quarantine and the Prevention of Infection.
(Under Sub-section 4, Section XXVI, of the "Public Health Act, 1883."

1. When a vessel has been placed in quarantine, all letters, papers, and other mail matter before being landed shall be carefully and thoroughly fumigated with sulphur at the gangway in the presence of the Health Officer.

2. The master of any vessel in quarantine is required to isolate the sick as much as possible until they shall be removed to a lazaret.

3. He shall afford every facility to the Superintendent of the quarantine station for landing the passengers and crew and the sick, and their baggage, together with such provisions as may be required for use on shore.

4. After the sick have been landed and removed to the lazaret, the healthy portion of the crew and passengers may be landed and located on a portion of the quarantine ground apart from the lazaret, or they may remain on board the vessel; but in the event of any fresh case of disease breaking out the patient shall at once be conveyed to the lazaret on shore, and if necessary the clothes and bedding belonging to such patient shall be destroyed.

5. The Superintendent shall not permit any communication whatever to take place between the patients or their attendants in the lazaret and the healthy portion of the passengers and crew.

6. He shall not permit anyone to land at or to have any communication with the quarantine station, and he shall give notice that any letters which persons in quarantine may wish to send to their friends must be delivered to him for the purpose of being fumigated.

7. The medical officer in charge of the lazaret shall keep a diary, which must be written up daily, and a medical register containing a history of every case of disease, with the treatment employed, and a daily entry of the diet and extras prescribed. He will be required to aid the Superintendent in maintaining order and discipline.

8. He shall cause the patients labouring under different descriptions of disease to be placed in separate wards as far as practicable.

9. The appointment of nurses and attendants will rest with him, and he will see that order and cleanliness are observed by the patients and attendants.

10. He will communicate with the Superintendent of the quarantine station once in each day, in the forenoon, when it will be expected that he will have his requisition prepared for any article he may require, as also his report on the state of the patients.

11. It will be his duty to see that the hospital linen and clothing are carefully washed, and that no dirty or soiled clothes, particularly those belonging to diseased persons, are allowed to remain longer than may be absolutely necessary before being cleansed or destroyed.

12. No bed-linen or articles of wearing apparel used by sick persons on board a vessel in quarantine shall under any circumstances be permitted to be taken on shore for the purpose of being washed, but must either be washed on board or destroyed by fire.

13. The bodies of persons dying either on board a vessel in quarentine or at the quarantine station on shore, shall be buried as soon as possible in coffins or shells filled with lime.

14. Before the embarcation of the persons entrusted to his charge the Superintendent shall cause the whole of the buildings and tents to be carefully cleansed and disinfected.

15. Any person found willfully damaging any of the buildings, tents, or other Government property, shall be liable, on conviction, to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

16. Should more than one vessel be placed in quarantine at the same time, the people of one vessel shall not be allowed to communicate with those of another, but they shall be restricted to the boundaries which shall have been allotted to each of them.

17. No release from quarantine will be granted until the master of the vessel or the Medical officer shall give a certificate to the following effect, viz.:—that no new case of the prevailing epidemic or of any other contagious or infectious disease has occurred among the people under his charge since the one last reported; and that all the measures directed to be taken for the cleansing, fumigation, and purification of the vessel and her lading, and of the baggage and bedding of the passengers and crew, have been completed, and that quarantine has been strictly kept.

Infectious Diseases and Hospitals.
(Under Section XXXII of the Public Health Act, 1883.)

I. Any home or dwelling of any description may be visited by any medical or other officer duly authorised thereto by the local authority, and such officer is empowered to demand an entrance to such house or dwelling, and to visit every room, closet, or apartment, and he shall thereupon make a report on the state thereof to the local authority.

II. When any person is found suffering from symptoms which are of a suspicious nature, and is not under proper medical treatment, such person shall at once be removed to such hospital or lazaret as the local athority may appoint.

III. Whenever it shall be found that any house or dwelling contains a greater number of occupants than the medical officer considers consistent with the health of the inmates, it shall be lawful for the local authority to order the removal of so many of the inmates as shall be deemed necessary.

IV. The local authority shall provide means for removal of all rubbish, house refuse, and filth, which shall be destroyed by fire, as far as possible, and all that cannot be consumed by fire should be buried at such place or places as the local authorities may direct.

IX. Any person coming into an area under the jurisdiction of a local authority from any locality where a disease of an epidemic, endemic, contagious, or infectious nature exists, shall be liable to be detained and fumigated, and any baggage, wearing apparel, or other articles capable of conveying infection or contagion shall also be fumigated at such place or places as the local authority may appoint, and any person endeavouring to pass into any area under the jurisdiction of a local authority from such locality as aforesaid without being fumigated, shall be liable to be apprehended and detained until such person shall have been fumigated.

X. Any person contravening any of the above regulations shall be liable to the penalties prescribed by the "Public Health Act, 1883."

XI. Whenever any person suffering from infectious disease shall die in any hospital or lazaret the body of such person shall be interred in such place and at such time as the medical officer in charge of such hospital or lazaret shall direct.

XII. It shall be lawful for any "local authority" to isolate or place in quarantine any house, hut, or other building occupied by persons suffering from any disease to which the provisions of the "Public Health Act, 1883," apply, and to prevent any communications with the occupiers of such house, hut, or other building. The "local authority" shall, however, be bound to provide medical attendance, and to furnish all necessary supplies for persons so detained in quarantine.

I. Every District Surgeon and Vaccinator is required to vaccinate gratuitously—

(1) Any child under the age of fourteen years, whose parents are in his opinion unable to pay the customary fee.

(2) Any child under the age of fourteen years, whose parents, or the person having the custody of such child, shall produce a certificate from any Justice of the Peace, or Field-cornet in the District, stating that the parents of such child are, or in the case of an orphan that such orphan is, in indigent circumstances, and that such ought to be vaccinated gratuitously.

(3) Any person whom the Resident Magistrate of the District may in writing direct to be vaccinated gratuitously.

II. The Vaccinators at Cape Town and Graham's Town are required to vaccinate gratuitously throughout the year.

III. Every District Surgeon shall, when required to do so by the Resident Magistrate of the District, proceed to the different Field-cornetcies, in order to vaccinate such persons as may desire to be vaccinated, or whom such Surgeons may be required to vaccinate gratuitously.

IV. The Resident Magistrate shall cause timely notice to be given of the date appointed for the visits of the District Surgeon, and of the place appointed in each Field-cornetcy for his attendance for the performance of vaccination.

"The Contagious Diseases Prevention Act, 1885," was promulgated on the 16th November, 1888. The first part of the Act applies to the following areas or districts:—

The second part of the Act is in force throughout the Colony.

Hospitals for cases under Part I have been established at Cape Town, Simon's Town, Port Elizabeth, and King William's Town, and the following medical inspectors have been appointed:—

LICENSING COURTS.

By Act 28 of 1883 it was provided that Courts for the consideration and determination of applications for or relating to the granting, renewal, or transfer of licences for the sale of intoxicating liquors should be constituted, such Courts to be held in and for each district of the Colony on the first Wednesday in the months of March and September of every year, the Governor, however, having the power to authorise the holding of a special meeting of any Licensing Court in the event of an emergency requiring that such special meeting should be held.

Each Court so constituted is composed of seven or more members, consisting of:—The Resident Magistrate of the District, or in his absence the Assistant or Acting Resident Magistrate; the Mayor or Chairman for the time being of any or each Municipality within the District, unless disqualified; three members of the Divisional Council, to be elected before the last day of February in each year, and two Justices of the Peace (not being Civil Servants), appointed annually, and on the occurrence of any vacancy, by Government. There are certain disqualifications mentioned in the Act, and any person so disqualified who sits as a member of this Court is liable to a fine not exceeding Fifty Pounds.

Three members of a Licensing Court can form a quorum for the despatch of business, and if such quorum be not present on the appointed day the Court can stand adjourned from time to time until a quorum is present to proceed with the business of the Court.

The Magistrate, or his representative for the time being, presides at all meetings, and in the event of an equality of votes has a casting as well as a deliberative vote. The Magistrate's Clerk for the time being is the Clerk to the Licensing Court, and has the care of all documents connected with such Court. All applications sent in to the Resident Magistrate are read by him, and then considered by the members, who grant or refuse them, as the case may be. If any objections are raised, the Court has power to adjourn the meeting for any period not less than four days, when the President of the Court warns the applicant to be present on the day appointed, in order that he may have every opportunity of replying to such objections.

As the appointment of members for Licensing Courts for the year 1889 is not proceeded with until the commencement of the month of January, it is as impossible to append a List of Members for this year as it is useless to enumerate those who held office during the year 1888.

HARBOUR BOARDS.

TABLE BAY.

The Harbour Works of Table Bay are, by Act No. 26 of 1881, placed under the control of a Board of seven Commissioners, four of whom are appointed by the Governor, the remainder being selected by a constituency specially constructed under the Act. Of the nominee members no more than two may be persons holding offices of profit under the Crown, and any of them may be removed by the Governor under proclamation. The elective members are returned by the constituency of importers and exporters of merchandise in Cape Town who have voting powers according to the amount of dock dues paid, in the proportion of one vote for every £100 of dues. The nominee members hold office during pleasure. The elective members vacate their seats annually in rotation, each member thus sitting for three years, and they are eligible for re-election. Each member of the Board receives £1 for each meeting which he attends.

The Committee are officially the advisers of the Executive Government in all matters medical, or in any way affecting the public health.

The Imperial Medical Act of 1886 [49 and 50 Vict., ch. 48] so far as it relates to Colonies and Foreign Practitioners, was published in the Gazette by Government Notice No. 786, 6th September, 1886.

VACCINE INSTITUTION.

By a Government Notice of Governor Janssens of the 12th December, 1803, twelve medical men were appointed as chief superintendents to conduct the then newly discovered system of vaccination. The institution in Cape Town is now reduced to one vaccinating surgeon, who vaccinates free of charge all children brought to him for that purpose between 11 and 12 o'clock on Tuesdays.

In respect of the offences hereunder enumerated, these officers have the same jurisdiction as that exercised by a resident magistrate, but may not inflict a higher fine than 20s. or (and in default of payment) to imprisonment for more than 14 days, with or without hard labour or spare diet:

(1.) Assault, where no dangerous wound is given and no dangerous weapon is used.
(2.) Theft of any property, not being live stock, and not exceeding £2 value.
(3.) Attempt to commit either of the above offences, or being accessory thereto.
(4.) Receiving stolen goods (not excepted in paragraph 2), knowing them to have been stolen.
(5.) Contravention of sections 7 and 18 of Ordinances No. 25 of 1847, for improving the Police of the Colony.
(6.) Contravention of any municipal regulation.
(7.) Contravention of section 35 of Ordinance No. 9 of 1851, for the better regulation of the sale of wines and spirituous liquors, as amended by section 8 of the Wine and Spirit Act 8 of 1875.
(8.) Contravention of the provisions of Native Pass Act, No. 22 of 1867.

The jurisdiction of Special Justices was extended in 1882 by the † Police Offences Act, in regard to any of the thirty descriptions of offences against the police provisions applicable to special localities mentioned in Part I. of that Act, and also with regard to the offences enumerated in clauses 9 and 10 thereof. By the ‡ Administration of Justice Act, passed in the same year, their jurisdiction was still further increased to empower them to decide cases arising under sections 2 and 7 of the Masters and Servants Law Amendment Act of 1873, as amended by the Masters and Servants Act of 1875. The penalties to be inflicted under these extended powers are not to exceed fine of £2, or one month's imprisonment.

DISTRICT SURGEONS.

Before these appointments, which are provisional, can be notified in the Government Gazette, the officer appointed must signify his assent, in writing, to the following conditions, for record in the Colonial Secretary's office.

1. That I shall enter upon the duties of that office with the least possible delay.
2. That I will make myself acquainted with the instructions issued by the Government (under date 15th May, 1884) as to the duties required of me, and also with all other directions or instructions which may from time to time be issued relative thereto, and will conform to the same accordingly.
3. That if at any time it should be my desire to vacate or resign the said office, and my appointment thereto, I agree to apprise the Government of my intention in that respect at least two months previous to the date upon which I will cease to perform the duties of that office.

Copies of the instructions, dated the 15th May, 1884, above referred to, are forwarded to District Surgeons upon their provisional appointment. They are as follows :—

(1.)—Allowances and Travelling Expenses.

1. In addition to their fixed allowance, District Surgeons will receive an additional allowance, according to the present tariff, of 7s. 6d. an hour for travelling expenses, for all journeys taken on service, when the distance exceeds one hour (instead of three hours mentioned in Circular Instructions) from seat of Magistracy, to be issued for whole distance travelled, both going and returning. (Circulars 5 and 17 of 1855).

2. District Medical Officers are likewise entitled to an allowance of 7s. 6d. per hour, but not to exceed £2 for any one day, while they may be in attendance in a Court of Justice as witnesses, in addition to any travelling allowance to which they may be entitled under paragraph 1, for going to and from such Courts. (Circular 36 of 1855.)
3. The maximum amount allowable for detention as a witness, viz., one of £2 a day, can be claimed only when the actual attendance has extended over at least six hours. A certificate of the number of hours the officer was necessarily detained will be required in every case. (Circular 10 of 1867.)

1. The District Surgeon is required, unless otherwise directed, to reside in the town or village which is the principal seat of magistracy in the district to which he is appointed. It is not intended to offer hereby any unreasonable obstruction to his private practice; if that, however, beyond the immediate neighbourhood of the town or village, should be such as to prevent him from giving that attendance to his public duties which is required and may be reasonably expected from him, the matter will have to be brought specially under consideration of the Government.
2. He will be required to visit the prison daily, unless when absent on other public duty, or with the sanction of the Civil Commissioner or Resident Magistrate, under approval of the Government; and besides affording his professional assistance to the sick prisoners and paupers admitted for treatment by authority of a magistrate, he is required to pay due attention to the state of the prison establishment, with respect to its cleanliness, the ventilation of the apartments, the quality of the provisions, and generally to everything connected with the preservation of health therein.
3. He will attend every inquest when required by the Resident Magistrate, the Clerk of the Peace, or any Justice of the Peace of his district, or Field-cornet, and he is bound to give his written opinion, when the same may be officially required by any Court, or by the Civil Commissioner of the District, on any professional subject connected with the public welfare or administration of justice.
4. He is required to attend at the execution of all sentences of capital or corporal punishment within his district.
5. He will give professional attendance and medicines, gratis, to such paupers, prisoners and public servants, whether paid wholly or partly out of the public * revenue, and to the families of the latter, and perform such casual duties as the Government may require, free of charge, and keep a journal (form annexed) specifying names, dates of entrance on the sick list, and dates of discharge or death; in which latter case the post-mortem appearances are to be recorded, if necessary. To this register the Resident Magistrate shall have access at all times, and the District Surgeon shall submit it, or extracts therefrom, to the inspection of the Colonial Medical Committee when required. This journal has been made as simple as possible, the form thereof being such as doubtless most medical practitioners employ for their own reference and information in private practice.

FORM OF JOURNAL.

GOVERNMENT ECCLESIASTICAL GRANTS.

Previous to 1875 the sum of £16,060 was annually reserved, by a Schedule to the Constitution Ordinance, for the service of religious worship. The Act No. 5 of 1875, which took effect on the 30th June of that year, repealed this schedule, and while securing the continuance of the salaries of the then present incumbents until death or resignation, provided that, should any minister die or resign within five years from the taking effect of the Act, his successor should only receive salary till the expiration of the said five years. But a minister in receipt of a salary at the taking effect of the Act, who at any time resigns his post in order to accept some vacancy where the previous incumbent was also in receipt of such salary, shall also receive, till death or resignation, the same salary from public funds as his predecessor in such vacaney.

LAND SURVEYORS.

[For the Surveyor-General and his Department, vide page 67.]

The professional qualification of Colonial Government Surveyors is obtained by successful competition in two Examinations:

I.

The first examination (fee £15) is held once a year, in June, by the University, and is purely theoretical. It embraces the following subjects:

Arithmetic; Algebra, including the Binomial Theorem; Geometry, viz.: the first four, the sixth, and propositions 1 to 21, inclusive, of the eleventh book of Euclid; Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, including the Exponential Theorem, and some of the Expansions derived from it; Co-Ordinate Geometry of the Straight Line; and Spherical Astronomy and Geodesy as far as these two subjects can be treated with the aid of the branches of Mathematics above specified.

II.

The second examination is held free of charge once a year, in February, in the Surveyor-General's Office, and embraces:—

A.—Drawing.

Including Topography, copying Plans and drawing from Models. Neatness as well as Accuracy in this branch is essential.

B.—The Practical Application of the Theory of Land-Surveying.

1. Use and Adjustment of Surveying Instruments such as Theodolite and Sextant, use of Scales, Azimuth-Compass, Artificial Horizon and Planimeter.

2. Determination of Latitude and Longitude from data.

3. Co-ordinates and their practical application to Land-Surveying.

4. Overcoming difficulties in the Field, such as Observation of Angles the Vertices of which are inaccessible, and Reduction of Observations when the positions of the observed signals contain small known errors, &c.

5. Re-survey and Sub-Division of Private Property and construction of Plans and Diagrams according to the Regulations in force.

6. Construction of Maps on the principle of projection on the developed surface of a cone.

C.—Trial-Survey.

In this branch of the Examination Candidates may be required:—

1. To measure a Base-line;

2. To determine the co-ordinates of a number of points defined in the field;

3. To fix in the field the positions of points the co-ordinates of which are known;

4. To frame a Plan of their survey, and to lay down on it accurately the courses of Rivers, Roads, &c., or to delineate other marked features of the ground within the limits of their survey.

5. To determine by Astronomical Observations the direction of the Meridian with reference to points marked in the field, to determine the Variation of the Compass, and to find the Latitude and Longtitude of a given point by observation.

In order to pass the examination in Branch B, Candidates must attain at least 120 marks in the aggregate, the maximum number of marks attainable being 200.

Copies of all Government Notices bearing on the framing of Diagrams are obtainable on application to the Office of the Surveyor-General.

Before being appointed as Government Land Surveyors candidates have to pass a Security Bond for £400, and have to furnish certificates signed by two competent persons, to the effect that they possess the moral qualification necessary for the conscientious fulfilment of their duties as Government Surveyors. A licence of £5 must be taken out before Surveyors are authorized to practise as such.

The Act was promulgated on the 9th August, 1887, and no pension can be awarded under it until after the expiry of twelve months from that date.

The following Bye-laws and Regulations were published by Proclamation No. 172, dated the 1st September, 1887:—

A Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher may obtain special leave of absence, at any time, for a period not exceeding six months, without salary, on the Superintendent-General of Education and the Managers of the College or School with which he is connected being satisfied with the arrangements made for the discharge of his duties throughout the period of his absence. The period of absence shall not count for service.

2. A Professor, Lecturer or Teacher who has completed five years' continuous active service, may obtain ordinary leave of absence for a period not exceeding twelve months, on the Superintendent-General of Education and the Managers of the College or School with which he is connected being satisfied with the arrangements made for the discharge of his duties, without extra cost to the Education Department, throughout the period of his absence. The period of absence is to count for service, and the Merit Grant or Good Service Allowance is to be paid as in actual service. No ordinary leave shall be granted again except after an interval of five years' continuous active service.

3. When a Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher, by reason of the expiry of his engagement with the Managers, or by reason of his resignation for ill-health, or other and sufficient cause, shall be temporarily out of public employment, he may be considered as absent on leave without salary for a period not exceeding twelve months; and when he resumes active service, the breach of service caused by this suspension of public employment may be condoned if the Superintendent-General of Education is satisfied that such termination of engagement or temporary suspension of employment has not been brought about by the misconduct of the Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher; but the period during which he was out of public employment will not count as actual service; nor will any Merit Grant or Good Service Allowance be paid during that period.

4. A Professor, Lecturer, or Teacher who, by reason of an Inspector's report on the College, School, or Department with which he is connected, is in danger of having his name removed from the list of those entitled to Merit Grants or Good Service Allowances, may appeal to the Superintendent-General of Education for special enquiry into his case; and the decision of the Superintendent-General of Education after such enquiry shall be final.

HIGHER EDUCATION.

Act No. 24 of 1874 makes provision for grants of public money in aid of the salary of a professor or lecturer in any of the departments of literature, science, law, and medicine in a college or institution approved of by the Government. The schedule to this Act was slightly amended in (*) 1882.

South African College.

(Cape Town.)

The College was founded in 1829, and its affairs were established and regulated by Ordinance No. 11 of 1837 and Acts No. 19 of 1858 and No. 30 of 1861. In June, 1877, the several proprietors of shares in the College agreed to renounce all their right and title in the college buildings, and in the following year the Act No. 15 of 1878 was passed, repealing all former enactments on the subject, and making provision for the future regulation of the institution. This Act was amended in certain respects the following year by Act No. 12 of 1879.

The standard for the examination for entry is that of the School Higher Examination.

There are ten Queen's Scholarships; five senior, tenable for three years, open to matriculated students under 18, the appointments being determined by the position attained by candidates in the preceding matriculation examination; and five junior, tenable for two years, open to non-matriculated students under 16, the appointments being determined by the position of candidates in the annual College July competitive examination.

"Murray's Gift" provides for ten Murray scholars, and the "Jamison Scholarship" of £200 a year, tenable for four years, is the gift of Mrs. Jamison, to enable the holder to pursue his professional studies in Europe or elsewhere. Mrs. Jamison has also founded a chair of practical chemistry and experimental physics.

Victoria College.

(Stellenbosch).

The Stellenbosch Gymnasium was established as a public school in 1866. Immediately after the passing of the Higher Education Act in 1874, the Arts department was added, and was incorporated as a college by Act No. 9 of 1881, the public school continuing as a distinct institution, but under the administration of the same Council of Management as the College. The Public School is governed by a Rector, Mr. W. Milne, and now numbers 108 pupils.

The subjects prescribed for the University School Higher Examination will sufficiently indicate the range of the College entrance examination. In addition to the work prescribed for the various University examinations, and degrees in literature and science, special classes are conducted in the School of Agriculture, attached to Victoria College, and directed by the Government department of agriculture.

The College buildings comprise two halls, six class-rooms, council-rooms, laboratory, museum, library, &c.

There is no boarding establishment in official connection with the College, but in addition to a large number of private houses, two of public character may be named: "Eikenhof," which is under management of a committee, draws Government aid, and accommodates about 50 pupils and students, and The House (Het Tehuis) which also accommodates about fifty boarders, attending school and college, including the sons of the Rhenish missionaries. The cost of board in Stellenbosch is about £36 per annum.

St. Andrew's College.

(Graham's Town.)

Founded 1855.

Incorporated by Act 21, 1887.

This College was opened in 1856, with the Rev. F. Bankes as Principal, and a School Department was at the same time attached to it, of which the Rev. F. Bankes was Head Master. The College and School were for some time combined in one institution, but the establishment of the Government-Aided Lectureships in 1878 under the Higher Education Act of 1874 has enabled the original intention of the foundation to be more adequately carried out, and the College and School Departments (the latter being also under the headmastership of the Rev. Canon Espin) are now distinct.

Candidates for admission to the College Department are required to be competent to enter at once upon the subjects prescribed for the Matriculation Examination.

Boarders are received at the College by the Principal, and by the Vice-Principal at his house.

ADMISSION.

3. No person shall be accepted as a candidate for the Civil Service of the Colony
(1) Unless he is over seventeen and under twenty-five years of age.
(2) Unless he is free from any physical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with the proper discharge of his duties.
(3) Unless he is of good character and free from any legal disability;

Provided that any person who has been employed in the permanent Civil Service, and whose services have been dispensed with by reason of the reduction of establishments, may be re-employed without reference to the provisions of this Act: Provided further that judges' clerks who shall be such at the date of the taking effect of this Act shall be eligible as candidates for the Civil Service even if their age shall exceed twenty-five years.

4. All candidates for admission into the Civil Service of the Colony shall be required to pass an examination (to be styled the Civil Service Examination) in such subjects as the Governor shall from time to time prescribe: Provided that the Governor may, by the regulations to be framed under the eighth section hereof, exempt candidates who are graduates of any University of recognised standing, or undergraduates of the University of the Cape of Good Hope, from the necessity of being examined in any one or more of such subjects.

5. Official lists of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination shall be kept in the office of the Colonial Secretary, and shall show the percentage of the maximum number of marks obtained by each candidate in the several subjects of examination.

6. As soon as any candidate shall have attained the age of twenty-five years, or shall have been appointed on probation, his name shall be removed from such official lists.

7. The Council of the University of the Cape of Good Hope is required to hold from time to time a Civil Service Law Examination in the following subjects:—

(1) Elements of Dutch Law.
(2) Elements of English Law.
(3) Selections from colonial statute law, including
  (a) The law of evidence.
  (b) Procedure in criminal cases.
  (c) Procedure in civil cases.

And such Council shall from time to time frame bye-laws and regulations for the conduct of such examinations and for establishing, in regard to the prescribed subjects, the standards of qualification to be applied to the candidates, and shall appoint the times and places for holding examinations.

8. The Governor shall from time to time appoint the persons by whom the examinations mentioned in the fourth section hereof shall be held, and shall frame rules and regulations for the conduct of such examinations, the times and places for holding them, and for establishing the standards of qualification to be applied to candidates.

9. All persons in the Civil Service of the Colony, whether serving on probation or on the fixed establishment, and all persons whose names appear in the official lists of candidates, shall be eligible as candidates for the Civil Service Law Examination.

10. Lists of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Law Examination shall be kept in the office of the Colonial Secretary, and in these lists shall be included the names of persons in the Civil Service of the Colony who, having passed any existing Law Examination of the University of the Cape of Good Hope, may have requested that their names should be included in such lists.

11. Such lists shall further show the percentage of the maximum number of marks which the persons named therein shall have obtained in the Law Examination or Examinations which they shall have passed.

12. Whenever it becomes necessary to admit a person into the Civil Service, the ministerial head of the department in which the appointment is to be made shall select from the official lists of candidates the person in his opinion best fitted to fill the office, and shall submit the name of such person to the Governor for appointment on probation; provided that the person so selected as aforesaid shall not be placed on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service until he shall have served on probation for a period of at least six months, and until he shall have satisfied the ministerial head of his department of his fitness to be permanently employed in that department, and that his conduct and diligence during probation have been uniformly satisfactory.

13. Whenever the permanent head of a ministerial department, in which it is necessary to fill any office, reports that, for reasons set forth in such report, the qualifications requisite for such office are wholly or in part professional, or otherwise peculiar, and not ordinarily possessed or to be acquired in the Civil Service, or possessed by candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, and that the requisite qualifications are not possessed in sufficient degree by any available person then in the Civil Service of the Colony, it shall be lawful for the Governor, on the recommendation of the ministerial head of the department, to appoint to such office such other person possessed of such qualifications as shall be deemed best fitted to fill the vacancy, and to dispense wholly or partially with the examination prescribed in this Act, and to substitute therefor such other examination as, with reference to the special requirements necessary, he may see fit to prescribe, or entirely to dispense with any examination. The Governor shall, within thirty days after the meeting of Parliament in each year, cause to be laid on the table of both Houses a return of all appointments made under the provisions of this section up to the date of the preparation of such return.

14. From and after the first day of January, 1887, it shall not be lawful permanently to appoint to any office of Resident Magistrate, or Assistant Resident Magistrate, any person who, at that date, shall not have served ten years or upwards in the Civil Service of the Colony, unless his name shall appear in the list of candidates mentioned in section ten; Provided that no such appointment shall be made unless any person to be so appointed shall possess a sufficient knowledge of the Dutch language.

3. The ministerial head of any department may appoint to such department such officers not mentioned in the Schedule A to this Act, as may be necessary for the efficient conduct of the public service; provided that due provision shall have been made by Parliament for the salaries or wages of the persons so appointed: and if at any time such ministerial head shall deem it expedient in the interests of the public service to dispense with the services of any person employed in such department under the provisions of this section, not being a person on the Fixed Establishment, he shall be at liberty to do so. When any such person shall have been employed on services not of a purely temporary character for at least ten years, then, whether he shall have been placed on the Fixed Establishment or not, it shall be lawful for the Governor, subject to the provisions of the seventh and tenth sections hereof, to grant him such pension as might lawfully be granted to him, if he were an officer on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, subject to such regulations as may be in force with respect to Civil Service pensions; and if such person shall have been employed on services not of a purely temporary character for a less period than ten years, it shall be lawful, subject to the provisions of the seventh section hereof, to pay him by way of gratuity any sum not exceeding one month's salary or wages for every year of the period during which he shall have served continuously, and in such case no pension shall be assigned to such person: Provided that no person dismissed for misconduct, or who voluntarily retires from the service on grounds other than those set forth in the twenty-second section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall receive any pension or gratuity.

4. The provisions of the first sub-section of section three, and of the fourth, fifth, sixth, twelfth and thirteenth sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall not extend or apply to persons appointed under the provisions of the third section of this Act.

GENERAL.

15. It shall be lawful for the Governor to frame or approve of rules for the Civil Service, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, specifying the duties of officers, the hours of attendance, the conditions on which leave of absence and superannuation allowances may be granted, and regulating the maintenance of discipline and other matters connected with the discharge of the public duties of all officers in the service; and from time to time alter and amend such rules as circumstances may require.

16. If any officer be guilty of any breach of such rules, the minister of any department may suspend such officer pending examination by order of the Governor, and the Governor may, according to the nature of the offence, reduce him to a lower rank in the public service, or to a lower salary, or, with the consent of the Executive Council, dismiss him from the public service.

17. No person who is proved to the satisfaction of the Governor to be habitually using intoxicating beverages to excess shall be appointed to or retained in the public service.

18. If any officer is convicted of any crime, and sentenced to imprisonment without the option of a fine, or become insolvent, he shall be deemed to have forfeited his office, and thereupon cease to perform his duties or receive his salary.

19. When any officer has forfeited his office by reason of pecuniary embarrassment as aforesaid, if he prove to the satisfaction of the Governor that such embarrassment has not been caused or attended by any fraud, extravagance or dishonourable conduct, the Governor may reinstate such officer in his former position, but no uncertificated insolvent shall be so reinstated.

SUPERANNUATION.

20. It shall be lawful for the Governor, to him it shall appear expedient, to call upon any person on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service of this Colony who shall have attained the age of sixty years, to vacate his office on condition of being paid the superannuation allowance which may be granted to such person in consideration of his past services by virtue of any regulations in force for the time being; and thereupon the office held by such person shall be deemed to be vacant, and some other person may be duly appointed to fill the same.

21. Subject to the exceptions and provisions hereinafter contained, the superannuation allowance which may be granted, after the taking effect of this Act, to any person who shall have served on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service of the Colony, and for whom provision shall not otherwise have been made by Act of Parliament, or who may not be specially excepted by the authority of Parliament, shall be as follows:—

To any person who shall have served ten years and upwards, and under eleven years, an annual allowance of ten-sixtieths of such salary and emoluments;

And, in like manner, a further addition to the annual allowance of one-sixtieth in respect of each additional year of service, until the completion of a period of service of forty years, when an annual allowance of forty-sixtieths may be granted; and no addition shall be made in respect of any service beyond forty years.

7. In computing the pension or gratuity which may lawfully be granted to any person, all continuous service in any department of the public service shall be taken into account for pension purposes, excepting:—

(a) Services (if any) rendered by him while under seventeen years of age.

(b) Services (if any) rendered by a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund after the first day of July, 1886, in respect of which he may not have contributed to the Civil Service Pension Fund.

(c) Services on probation rendered by an officer appointed under the provisions of the twelfth or thirteenth sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," if during such probation he shall have elected not to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund.

10. All persons who, at the date of the taking effect of this Act may be employed in the public service on daily wages, and in the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character, may elect within three months from such date whether or not they shall become contributors to the Civil Service Pension Fund; and should they elect to become contributors they may further elect from what date within their period of service (not however before the first day of July, 1886, and in no case later than the first day of July, 1888,) their contributions to such fund shall accrue or be calculated: Provided that any period of service between the first day of July, 1886, and the first day of July, 1888, in respect of which any such person may elect not to contribute to such fund shall not be counted as service for pension purposes.

11. Every person who may be appointed under the provisions of the third section of this Act on daily wages and for the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character, may elect, if then seventeen years of age or upwards, within one month of the date of his appointment, or if then under seventeen years of age, within one month of his becoming seventeen years of age, whether or not he shall become a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund; and should he elect to become a contributor to such fund, his contribution shall accrue from the date of his appointment, or the date on which he shall become seventeen years of age, as the case may be.

12. It shall not be lawful to grant any pension or gratuity under the provisions of this Act:—

(a) To any person engaged in the discharge of duties of a purely temporary character;

(b) Or to any person referred to in the tenth and eleventh sections hereof, who may not, within the period allowed under such sections, elect to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund.

13. It shall be lawful for the Governor to frame or approve of rules similar to those which may be in force in the United Kingdom for the calculation of the pensions which may be granted on their retirement to officers who may have served partly in the Colonial Civil Service and partly in the Imperial Service, or in that of another British Colony, and for the charging of equitable shares of such pensions to the revenues of this Colony, anything in the twenty-first section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," to the contrary notwithstanding.

22. Except as is hereinafter provided, it shall not be lawful to grant superannuation allowance under the provisions of this Act to any person who shall be under sixty years of age, unless upon medical certificate, to the satisfaction of the Governor, that he is incapable, from infirmity of mind or body, to discharge the duties of his office, and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent.

23. It shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to any person who, being the holder of an office in respect of which a superannuation allowance may be granted, is compelled, before the completion of ten years' service, to quit the Public Service by reason of severe bodily injury, occasioned without his own default, in the discharge of his public duty, a gratuity not exceeding three months' pay for each year of service, or a superannuation allowance not exceeding ten-sixtieths of the annual salary and emoluments of his office.

24. It shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to any person who, being the holder of an office in respect of which a superannuation allowance may be granted, is constrained, from infirmity of mind or body, to leave the public service before the completion of ten years' service, such sum of money by way of gratuity as the said Governor may think proper, but so as that no such gratuity shall exceed the amount of one month's pay for each year of service.

25. Should any person, being the holder of an office in respect of which a superannuation allowance may be granted, die from bodily injury, occasioned, without his own default, in the discharge of his public duty, it shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to the widow or minor children of such person, or to his parents, if dependent on him for their maintenance, a gratuity not exceeding one month's pay for each year of service.

14. The provisions of the twenty-third and twenty-fifth sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall apply and extend to every person who contributes to the Civil Service Pension Fund, and the following proviso shall be added to such twenty-fifth section: Provided that if such gratuity as aforesaid shall appear to the Governor to be inadequate to meet the circumstances of any particular case, he may grant such gratuity, not exceeding one year's pay, as he may consider reasonable.

26. It shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to any person retiring or removed from the Public Service in consequence of the abolition of his office, such special annual allowance, not exceeding two-thirds of the salary and emoluments of the office, by way of compensation, as on a full consideration of the circumstances of the case may seem to the said Governor to be a reasonable and just compensation for the loss of office: Provided that such special annual allowance shall not exceed the amount which might be granted under the scale provided in this Act:—

If to persons who shall have served twenty years and upwards, ten years were added to their actual service;

If to persons who shall have served under twenty years and not less than fifteen years, seven years were added to their actual service;

If to persons who shall have served under fifteen years and not less than ten years, five years were added to their actual service;

If to persons who shall have served under ten years and not less than five years, three-sixtieths were added to as many sixtieths of the salary and emoluments of the office as the person has served a complete number of years:

If to persons who shall have served under five years, one-sixtieth were added to as many sixtieths of the salary and emoluments of the office as the person has served a complete number of years:

Provided always that the number of years to be added shall in no case exceed such number as would, if added to the actual age of the person retiring or removed, make up sixty-five.

8. Should any person on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service be found to be unfit to discharge efficiently the duties of the particular office filled by him, it shall be lawful for the Governor, if such person shall have had ten years' service or upwards, to place him on temporary pension pending the occurrence of a suitable vacancy, or if he shall have had less than ten years' service, to dispense with his services, precisely as if, in either case, he were a person employed under the provisions of the third section of this Act, not on the Fixed Establishment.

27. Every person to whom a superannuation or compensation allowance shall have been granted before he shall have attained the age of sixty years, shall, until he has attained that age, be liable to be called upon to resume his duties in his former office, or to fill any public office or situation in the Colony for which he is qualified; and if he shall decline, when called upon to do so, to take upon him such office or situation, or shall decline or neglect to execute the duties thereof satisfactorily, being in a competent state of health, he shall forfeit his right to the compensation or superannuation allowance which had been granted to him.

5. In the case of telegraphists, locomotive engine drivers and firemen, the twentieth, twenty-second and twenty-seventh sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall be read as if the word "fifty" were inserted for the word "sixty" wherever the latter word occurs.

28. In case any person enjoying any superannuation allowance, in consequence of his having retired from office on account of age, infirmity, or any other cause, or enjoying any compensation for past services upon the abolition or reduction of office, shall be appointed to fill any office in any public department in this Colony or elsewhere, such allowance or compensation shall cease to be paid for any period subsequent to such appointment, if the annual amount of the salary and emoluments of the office to which he shall be appointed be equal to those of the office formerly held by him; and in case they shall not be equal to those of his former office, then no more of such superannuation allowance or compensation shall be paid to him than what, with the salary of his new appointment, shall be equal to that of his former office.

15. In the twenty-eighth section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," the term "public department" shall be construed to mean any department in the service of Her Majesty the Queen, whether under the Imperial or any Colonial Government.

29. It shall be lawful for the Governor, on the ultimate retirement of any person who may have been re-employed under the twenty-seventh section, to grant to such person a retiring allowance, not exceeding forty-sixtieths of his salary and emoluments, based on his periods of actual service before and after his temporary retirement, precisely as if such periods had formed continuous service.

30. It shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to a person any superannuation compensation, gratuity, or other allowance of greater amount than the amount which might be awarded to him under the foregoing provisions, when special services rendered by such person and requiring special reward, shall appear to him to justify such increase, but so that such allowance shall in no case exceed the salary and emoluments enjoyed by such person at the time of his retirement: Provided that the minute detailing the circumstances under which such increase was recommended to the Governor shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament before it be granted; and it shall be lawful for the Governor to grant to any person any such allowance of less amount than otherwise would have been awarded to him, when his defaults or demerits in relation to the Public Service appear to him to justify such diminution.

31. Any superannuation or compensation allowance which may be granted to any person after the passing of this Act shall not be computed upon the amount of the salary and emoluments enjoyed by him at the time of his retirement, unless he shall have been in the receipt of the same for a period of at least three years immediately before the granting of such superannuation allowance; and in case he shall not have enjoyed his then existing salary for that period, such superannuation or compensation allowance shall be calculated upon the average amount of salary and emoluments received by such person for the three years next preceding the commencement of such allowance: Provided that, if at the date of his retirement the whole period of service of such person be less than three years, any superannuation or compensation allowance which may, under the provisions of this Act be granted to him, shall be calculated on his average salary and emoluments during the whole period of service: Provided, also, in the case of a person re-employed under the twenty-seventh section hereof, that if, at the date of his ultimate retirement, his whole period of service subsequent to the date of his re-employment shall have been less than three years, his superannuation or compensation allowance shall be calculated upon his average salary and emoluments during the last three years of his actual service, precisely as if a period of temporary retirement had not existed. Provided lastly that in the case of a person, who shall have been employed on daily wages, any superannuation allowance which may be granted to him, may be calculated upon the average amount of wages and other emoluments received by him for the ten years preceding his retirement.

32. Service in respect of which superannuation or compensation allowances may be granted must in all cases be continuous, unless interrupted by reduction of office, leave of absence, or other temporary suspension of employment, not arising from misconduct or voluntary resignation; and in computing the amount of any superannuation or compensation allowance, the term salary and emoluments shall be taken to include house rent or house allowance, or the annual value of quarters in any buildings belonging to the Crown which an officer may be allowed to occupy, to an extent not exceeding one-sixth of the average salary and other emoluments of the office during the three years preceding; the net amount of fees to an extent not exceeding one-fourth of such salary; the value of rations; and other unquestionable remuneration for personal service; but it shall not include local allowance contingent on the high cost of living in certain localities, or allowance for horse keep, or travelling, or stationery, or any other allowance contingent on the particular nature and actual transaction of the business of the office, and presumably spent in the discharge of such business: Provided that the net amount of fees shall be obtained by deducting from the average gross amount of fees received during the three years next preceding, the average office expenses during such three years personally defrayed by the officer.

33. It shall not be lawful to grant leave of absence for any period exceeding one month to any person who purposes to retire on pension at or within six months of the termination of such leave; and should any person who has obtained leave of absence for any period exceeding one month, voluntarily retire on pension during such leave, or within six months after its termination, any superannuation allowance which may lawfully be granted to him under the provisions of this Act shall be calculated on his period of service up to the date from which such leave commenced: Provided if it be established by medical certificate, to the satisfaction of the Governor, that such person is incapable, from infirmity of mind or body, of resuming the duties of his office at the termination of his leave, or of continuing to serve for six months hereafter, and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent, it shall be lawful for the Governor, should he see fit, to direct that the period of service of such person shall be reckoned up to the date of his ultimate retirement.

34. Except in so far as it is otherwise by law provided, it shall not be lawful to grant any superannuation allowance to any person who is paid entirely by fees or allowances.

35. In the computation of superannuation or compensation allowances, fractional parts of a month and no increase of salary or emoluments granted after the date of the application to be allowed to retire, shall be taken into consideration.

36. It shall not be lawful to grant a superannuation or compensation allowance to any person holding more than one appointment or office until he shall retire from all the offices held by him.

37. For the purpose of calculating any superannuation or compensation allowance, absence on leave on full or half-pay in accordance with this Act shall be regarded as service, and the person during such absence on leave shall be deemed to have drawn his full salary and emoluments, but any absence on leave without salary shall not be reckoned in the period of service.

38. After a pension or superannuation allowance has been awarded to any person, the same may thereafter be rescinded, in case it shall appear that during his tenure of office he was guilty of any such grave offence as would have led to his dismissal.

39. Should any person serving in a capacity to which a pension calculated according to the scale of one-fiftieth of yearly pay may be granted for each year of service, be transferred to the Civil Service of the Colony, or vice versa from the Civil Service to service in such capacity, then on the ultimate retirement of such person, it shall be lawful for the Governor to grant him a pension or superannuation allowance according to the rules of the service from which he retires, allowing, however one-sixtieth of the amount on which such pension or superannuation allowance may be calculated in respect of each year in which he shall have served in the Civil Service, and one-fiftieth of such amount for each year in which he shall have served in such other capacity: Provided that no pension or retiring allowance may be granted under this section, unless the aggregate number of years of service of such person shall have been at least ten years, if he shall at the time of his retirement have been serving in the Civil Service; or at least fifteen years, if at such time he shall have been serving in such other capacity, and shall, further, have served in such other capacity for at least ten years.

16. The Superannuation Allowance of any person who on his retirement shall have served partly as a Police Officer, as defined in the "Police Superannuation Act, 1874," and partly in some other capacity or capacities referred to in the thirty-ninth section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall be calculated under the provisions of that section, as if his service as a "Police Officer" had been service under the "Police Regulation Act, 1882."

40. Except as hereinafter is excepted, it shall not be lawful to grant any superannuation allowance to any person holding an office, the duties of which are not such as to require that the holder should give his whole time to the Public Service; but nothing herein contained shall prevent the Governor from granting a retiring allowance, under the preceding sections of this Act, to the Solicitor-General, the Crown Prosecutor at Kimberley, the Assistant Law Adviser to the Crown, or to the holder of such other office as he may from time to time see fit to direct; Provided that no such direction shall be of force and effect until the expiration of thirty days from the date on which a minute, embodying the reasons on which it was made, shall have been laid before both Houses of Parliament; or shall extend or apply to any holder of an office unless made not later than twelve months after the date of the appointment of such holder.

41. Save as may in this Act be excepted, the superannuation allowance to be granted to any person holding office in the Civil Service of the Colony shall be calculated according to the actual period of service of such person, and no addition shall on any pretext whatsoever be made to such period: Provided that nothing in this section contained shall be taken to prejudice the rights under existing superannuation regulations of any person who may at the time of the taking effect of this Act be on the fixed establishment of the Public Service.

SECURITY.

42. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer of the Colony to fix and determine the amount of security to be given by the holder of every office in the Public Service of the Colony involving the receipt, custody, or payment of public money, or the receipt, issue, or custody of stamps, and to frame a schedule for the guidance of public officers, showing the amount so fixed in respect of such offices, and from time to time to amend such schedule as circumstances may require: Provided that in determining the amount of security to be required of the holder of any such office the said Treasurer shall act in conjunction with the ministerial head of the department in which such office may happen to be.

43. In order to provide proper security for the faithful and punctual discharge of the duties of the holders of offices from whom security is required, and to enable the practice heretofore followed of obtaining the guarantee of private persons, or of a public company, to be discontinued, a fund shall be created to be styled the "Public Service Guarantee Fund," which shall provide such security for all persons who shall contribute thereto under the provisions of sections forty-two to forty-six hereof, both inclusive.

44. All contributions or other moneys payable to the said fund shall be lodged in the Treasury, and shall be accounted for by the Paymaster-General of the Colony.

45. Whenever any person who has not previously contributed to the Public Service Guarantee Fund, in respect of any appointment previously held by him, is appointed to any office in the Public Service of the Colony, the holder of which is required to give security, a deduction of one-eighth per cent. on the amount for which he is required to give security shall be made on account of such fund from the first payment of salary in respect of such office, and such person shall further contribute to such fund at the rate of one-eighth per cent. per annum on such amount from the date of his entering on the discharge of the duties of such office.

46. Should any person hereafter appointed to any such office have contributed to such fund in respect of an office previously held by him, then, in case the amount of security required in respect of his new office shall be either less than or equal to that required in respect of such former office, he shall contribute to such fund at the rate of one-eighth per cent. per annum on the amount of security required in respect of such new office, and such contribution shall accrue from the termination of the period for which he shall have already contributed, or if such period shall have already terminated, then from the date of his entering on the discharge of the duties of such new office; and in case the amount of security required in respect of his new office shall be greater than that required in respect of his former office, a deduction at the rate of one-eighth per cent. on the increase in the amount for which the security is required shall be made on account of such fund from the first payment of salary in respect of such new office, and such person shall further contribute to such fund at the rate of one-eighth per cent. per annum on such higher amount of security from the date of his entering on the discharge of the duties of such new office; Provided, that, if the period for which he shall have previously contributed shall not have expired, a portion of such previous contribution, proportionate to such unexpired period, shall be deducted from the first contribution required by this section

47. Any person who at the time of taking effect of this Act holds an office in respect of which security has been given, shall from and after the 31st March, 1886, contribute to the said fund as if then appointed to such office, and on his so doing his sureties shall be relieved from all responsibility in respect of his subsequent transactions: Provided that any person may, should he desire, so contribute at any time before that date.

48. Every person who at the date of the taking effect of this Act holds an office in the Public Service of the Colony in respect of which, in the opinion of the Treasurer of the Colony, security should be given, but who has not been required to give, or, if so required, has not given, any security, shall contribute to the Public Service Guarantee Fund as if he had been first appointed to such office at such date.

49. In respect of every first annual contribution to the said fund, an amount proportionate to the period between the date from which it commences to accrue and the 31st of March next ensuing shall be deducted from the first payment of salary payable to the holder of the office in respect of which security is given, and thereafter the annual contribution shall be payable in advance, on the 31st of March in each year, and shall be deducted from the payment of salary for the said month of March, and should any deduction not be made as prescribed in this Act, the amount shall be forthwith recovered from the person in default.

50. The rates of initial deduction and annual contribution, set forth or referred to in the sections of this Act, from the forty-second to the forty-sixth inclusive, may from time to time be altered and amended by resolutions of both Houses of Parliament, and thereafter such amended rates shall be substituted for the rates set forth or referred to in such sections as if the same had been originally inserted therein.

51. Should any person who has become a contributor to the Public Service Guarantee Fund cause any pecuniary loss to the public revenue of the Colony, by reason of any wrongful act or omission, the amount of such loss shall be charged against such person, and shall, as far as possible, be recovered from him, in such manner as the Governor may direct; and in case the amount recovered shall be insufficient to cover such loss, it shall be lawful for the Paymaster-General, on being authorised so to do by the Treasurer of the Colony, to pay out of the aforesaid fund such sum as shall be sufficient to make good the amount of loss sustained by the said revenue, not exceeding, however, the amount for which security was given by the defaulter: Provided that if any amount be subsequently recovered from such defaulter, such amount shall be applied, firstly to make good the deficiency (if any) still remaining due to the revenue, and secondly, to the reimbursement of such fund.

52. It shall be lawful for the Governor to cause interest to be paid from and out of the public revenue at the rate of four per cent, per annum, on the balance at the close of each quarter, to the credit of the fund in the books of the Paymaster-General.

53. It shall be lawful for the Treasurer of the Colony to invest any portion of the balance to the credit of the fund, in Government debentures or stock, and to sell any such debentures or stock which may have been previously purchased.

54. A statement of moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of the forty-second to the fifty-second sections of this Act inclusive, and of all investments and sales under the provisions of the last preceding section shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament annually.

55. At the end of every period of five years, the first period being reckoned from the taking effect of this Act, a complete statement of all moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of the forty-second to the fifty-second sections of this Act inclusive, and of the position of the Public Service Guarantee Fund, together with all such further particulars connected therewith, as may be required for a full investigation into the working and condition of the said fund, shall be prepared by the Assistant Treasurer, and laid before both Houses of Parliament, during the first session after the expiration of every such period.

MISCELLANEOUS.

56. Act to Provide for the Establishment of a Civil Service Pension Fund.*

No. 23 of 1886, as amended.] [Promulgated 29th June, 1886.

Whereas it is desirable to provide against any increase of the amount now paid out of the general revenue for pensions to persons who have retired from the Civil Service of the Colony: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

1. From the salary of every person to whom, on his retirement from the public service, a pension or gratuity may lawfully be assigned under the provisions of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," there shall be made a monthly deduction at the rate of three pounds per centum per annum on such salary; and all sums so deducted shall be paid into the Colonial Treasury to the credit of a separate account, to be called "The Civil Service Pension Fund": Provided that nothing in this section contained shall apply to any person who was on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service of the Colony on the 10th August, 1885.

2. For the purposes of the last preceding section the word "salary" shall be taken to include all emoluments in respect of which superannuation or compensation allowances can be granted under the provisions of the thirty-second section of the "Civil Service Act, 1885;" provided that when the amount of any fees receivable by any officer cannot be definitely ascertained beforehand the deduction aforesaid shall be made upon the average amount of such fees received annually during the three financial years next preceding.

20. In every case in which the amounts paid to a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund as wages or emoluments vary from month to month, his monthly contribution to such fund shall be at the rate of three per cent. per annum or such other rate as may be prescribed under the provisions of the fifth section of the Civil Service Pension Fund Act, 1886, on such sum as may be determined for the year, with the approval of the ministerial head of his department, as fairly representing his annual emoluments capable of being taken into account for pension purposes.

21. In all cases in which any person contributes both to the Civil Service Pension Fund and to the Widows' Pension Fund, whatever amount may be taken to be or to represent his annual emoluments for the purpose of determining his contribution to the former, shall likewise be taken to be his annual emoluments for the purpose of determining his contribution to the latter.

22. Should any person required to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund, or to the Widows' Pension Fund, fail or neglect to contribute on any of his emoluments capable of being taken into account for pension purposes, such emoluments shall not be taken into account in calculating any pension or gratuity which may lawfully be granted to him, or in calculating the pension to which his widow may be entitled: and in computing pensions and gratuities the amounts on which contributions have been duly paid to the Civil Service Pension Fund shall, as far as practicable, be taken as a basis.

3. The amount which shall from time to time be voted by Parliament for the payment of pensions to persons who have already retired from the public service, or who may hereafter become entitled to any pension or gratuity under the provisions of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," shall be paid into the said Fund out of the general revenue in quarterly instalments, payable in advance; and all pensions or gratuities payable to any such persons shall be paid out of the said Fund.

4. Interest at the rate of five pounds per centum per annum on the balances of the said Fund in the Treasury on the thirtieth day of June in each year shall be paid into the said Fund out of general revenue.

5. The rate of deduction mentioned in the first section of this Act may from time to time be altered by the Governor, provided that no such alteration shall take effect until the Legislative Council and House of Assembly shall have communicated to the Governor their concurrence therein.

6. It shall be lawful for the Treasurer of the Colony to invest any portion of the balance to the credit of the Fund in Government Debentures or Stock, and to sell any such Debentures or Stock which may have been previously purchased.

7. A statement of all moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of this Act, and of all investments and sales under the provisions of the last preceding section, shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament annually.

8. At the end of every period of five years, the first period being reckoned from the taking effect of this Act, a complete statement of all moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of this Act, together with all such further particulars connected therewith as may be required for a full investigation into the working and condition of the Fund, shall be submitted by the Treasurer of the Colony to a competent actuary, and the report of such actuary shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament during the first session after the expiration of such period.

9. This Act may be cited as "The Civil Service Pension Fund Act, 1886," and shall come into operation on the 1st day of July, 1886.

PENSIONS.

The laws and regulations affecting the granting of pensions, gratuities, or rewards to persons on their retiring from the Public Service of the Colony may be summarised as follows:—

1. Pensions to Judges of the Supreme Court are granted under the provisions of Act 2 of 1867. No pension may be granted to a Judge who is under 65 years of age, unless he is disabled by permanent infirmity. Subject to the above, service for a period under ten years entitles a Judge to such pension, not exceeding half his salary, as the Governor may consider to be reasonable. Service for a period of at least ten, but under 15 years, entitles him to a pension of half his average salary for the last three years, and service of 15 years and upwards to a pension of two-thirds such average salary.

(b) The Ordinary Civil Service.

1. Persons placed on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service may not retire or be placed on pension unless they are over 60 years of age, or are disabled by permanent infirmity of body or mind, or are found to be unfit to discharge efficiently the duties of their respective offices, or unless their offices are abolished: provided, that in the case of telegraphists, locomotive engine drivers and fireman 50 should be read for 60: while the services of persons appointed under the 3rd Section of Act 31 of 1888, or strict urging like duties on the 21st of August, 1888, when that Act was promulgated, and not placed on the Fixed Establishment may be dispensed with at any time. Such persons however may be placed on the Fixed Establishment after ten years continuous good service on receiving a certificate of efficiency and good conduct from the heads of their respective departments.
2. Persons placed on pension while under 60 years of age, or 50 years in the case of telegraphists, locomotive engine drivers, or firemen, are liable to be called upon to accept suitable re-employment on penalty of forfeiture of their pensions.
3. The following services do not count for pension:—
   (a) Service rendered by any person while under 17 years of age.
   (b) Service rendered after the 1st day of July, 1886, by a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund, in respect of which he may not have contributed to the Fund.
   (c) Service on probation rendered by an officer appointed under the 12th or 13th Sections of the "Civil Service Act, 1885," if he shall have elected not to contribute during such probation to the Civil Service Pension Fund.
4. No pension or gratuity may be granted under the provisions of the Civil Service Act:—
   (a) To any person who, not being of sufficient age or disabled voluntarily, retires from the service.
   (b) To any person remunerated solely by fees or allowances or, with a few exceptions, whose whole time is not given to the public service.
   (c) To any person engaged in the discharge of duties of a temporary character.
   (d) To any person who, having the power to elect, may elect not to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund.
   (e) To any person who, having contributed to the Civil Service Pension Fund, has had his contribution returned with simple interest at 4 per cent. at the expiration of ten years service.
   (f) Or to any one dismissed for misconduct.
5. Subject to these conditions and limitations a gratuity not exceeding one month's pay for each year of service may be granted to any person of less than ten years' continuous service, if, having been appointed under the 3rd section of Act 31 of 1888, or holding a like office on the 21st of August, 1888, his services are dispensed with, or if being placed on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service compelled to leave the service from infirmity of body and mind or is found to be unfit to discharge the duties of his office.
6. If the holder of an office in respect of which a pension or gratuity may be granted is compelled to quit the service before the completion of ten years' continuous service, through severe bodily injury occasioned without his own default in the discharge of his public duty, a gratuity of three months' pay for each year of service, or a pension not exceeding one-sixth of his annual salary and emoluments may be granted to him; and if, irrespective of the length of his service, his death results from such bodily injury, a gratuity not exceeding one month's pay for each year of service may be granted to his widow or minor children, or to his parents, if dependent on him for their maintenance, or if such gratuity shall appear to the Governor to be inadequate to meet the circumstances of any particular case, he may grant such sum, not exceeding a year's pay as he may consider reasonable.
7. In the case of continuous service of ten years and upwards, a pension of one-sixtieth (1-60th) of the average salary and emoluments may be granted to any one entitled or required to retire on pension for every year of service which may lawfully be counted, not exceeding forty in any case.
8. In the case of the abolition of the office of a person who has been placed on the Fixed Establishment, a pension may be granted for any service, however short, but such pension may not exceed what might be granted, if one or three years were added to the integral number of years of continuous service, according as the officer has served under five, or over five and under ten years; or what might be granted if five, seven, or ten years were added to the years and months of continuous service, according as the officer has served over ten and under fifteen, over fifteen and under twenty, or over twenty years: provided that the years thus added may not exceed the number of years by which the officer's age falls short of 65, nor may the pension awarded exceed two-thirds of the average salaries and emoluments.

9. The term "average salary and emoluments" means the average for the preceding three years of salary (less local allowances) with fees, house-rent or allowance, rations, and other remuneration for personal service added. But allowances for horse keep, travelling, &c., do not count for pension, nor may fees exceed one-fourth of the salary, or house allowance one-sixth of the salary and other emoluments.
10. Special pensions not exceeding full pay may be granted for special services if submitted to Parliament before being granted.
11. Further details will be found in the Civil Service Act No. 42 of 1885, and 31 of 1888. (Vide pages 134-137.)

1. No pension or gratuity may be granted to a member of the Cape Mounted Rifles or Cape Infantry who is under 50 years of age, unless he is incapacitated by infirmity likely to be permanent.
2. A gratuity not exceeding three years' pay, or a pension not exceeding full pay, may be granted to a member of the force disabled by wound or injury received in the actual execution of his duty, but all such gratuities or pensions must be specially reported to Parliament.
3. Subject to the conditions in paragraph 1 a gratuity of one month's pay for every year of service may be granted to retiring members who have served under 15 years, and in the case of service of 15 years and upwards a pension of 1-50th of the yearly pay may be granted for every year of service not exceeding 30.
4. The average annual pay means the average for the last three years of the actual annual pay, less £20 per annum for every horse required to be kept.

1. No pension or reward may be granted to a Police Officer who is under 50 years of age, unless he is incapacitated by infirmity likely to be permanent.
2. A pension not exceeding his average yearly pay may be granted to a Police Officer disabled by a wound or injury received in the actual execution of his duty.
3. Subject to the above conditions, a pension equal to half his average yearly pay may be granted to an officer who has served not less than 15 and under 20 years, or of two-thirds his average yearly pay to an officer who has served 20 years or upwards.
4. Rewards may be granted for extraordinary services, but must be reported to Parliament.

(e). Police Force under Act 12 of 1882.

Instructions referred to above.

This application and the certificates connected with it, must be sent in original, or the copies must be duly attested.

HEAD 3.

Here state the description of allowance for which the applicant is recommended, whether pension or gratuity, and its amount. In the case of persons claiming an addition to years of actual service in respect of professional or other special qualifications, the grounds of the claim should be stated, and a reference should be given to the authority under which it is made. No such addition may be made to the service of any officer who was not on the Fixed Establishment on the 9th February, 1886.

HEAD 4.

No service rendered by any person while under 17 years of age shall be reckoned for pension or gratuity.

HEAD 6.

If the service has been interrupted by one or more breaks, the word "broken" should be added before or after the number of years and months, and the causes, dates and circumstances of the break or breaks should be stated under Head 9. Temporary service before a break cannot in any case be counted; but service on the Fixed Establishment before a break may be counted, if the interruption has been due to reduction of office, leave of absence, or other temporary suspension of employment, not arising from misconduct or voluntary resignation. Services (if any) rendered by a contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund after the first day of July, 1886, in respect of which he may not have contributed to the Civil Service Pension Fund, cannot be counted for pension.

HEAD 7 (a).

If the person retiring has been in receipt of the same salary for the thirty-six months immediately before the date of his retirement, the actual annual rate of salary at that date should be inserted, preceded by the word "actual." In other cases, the average annual amount of salary or wages for the thirty-six months next preceding the date of retirement should be inserted, preceded by the word "average"; but if the whole period of service is less than three years, then the annual average for the whole period of service should be inserted. Should, however, any person who has been employed on daily wages desire that his retiring allowance should be based on the average of his wages and other emoluments for the ten years preceding his retirement, he may submit a detailed statement shewing his emoluments capable of counting for pension during the ten years in question. The amount of any local allowance must be deducted from the total salary.

HEAD 7 (b).

A statement should be here inserted of the average annual value for the three or ten years, as the case may be, immediately preceding retirement, of each emolument or remuneration for personal service (exclusive of salary or wages) which may be included in the calculation of the pension or gratuity, supported by a schedule of the amounts received each year if not given in sufficient detail under Head 9.

Whenever the value of a house, or house allowance, or the annual value of quarters in any building belonging to the Crown which the applicant may have been allowed to occupy, exceeds one-sixth of the salary and other emoluments, it must be reduced to one-sixth of that amount, so that it shall not exceed one-seventh of the whole amount on which pension is calculated. The net fees for a year must be obtained by deducting from the gross amount of fees received, the office expenses during the year defrayed by the officer, and the average fees may not exceed one-fourth of the salary on which pension may be calculated.

HEAD 8.

Voluntary resignation or dismissal for misconduct absolutely disqualifies for pension or gratuity. The Ministerial head of the Department may dispense with the services of any person not on the Fixed Establishment at his discretion.

In the case of persons on the Fixed Establishment some lawful cause for retirement, such as age, infirmity of mind or body, or abolition of office, must be satisfactorily established. In cases of infirmity, if the applicant is below the ordinary age for retirement, a medical certificate must be furnished, showing that he is disqualified by infirmity of mind or body for discharging the duties of his situation, and that such infirmity is likely to be permanent.

HEAD 9.

As to "broken" service see Head 5.
If the applicant has "acted" in any capacity, the details must be fully given.

HEAD 10.

"On what ground." This is to say, whether on the ground of holding an office mentioned in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888, or of having been placed on the Fixed Establishment after ten years' continuous good service, or of being covered by any other specified sub-section of the second section of Act 31 of 1888.

HEAD 12.

In the case of contributors to the Civil Service Pension Fund, the emoluments on which they have actually and properly contributed within the three or ten years (as the case may be) on which an average is based, will be taken to be their true emoluments at the time of contribution. Any emolument on which a contributor has failed to contribute or has improperly contributed will not be counted for pension.

HEAD 13.

If, in special circumstances, an officer has been allowed to have "private practice" without forfeiting his claim to pension, the facts are to be fully stated.

HEADS 16 AND 17.

These dates should be definitely filled in before the application is forwarded to the Treasury or Audit Office for report. An indefinite date will not be accepted (such as the date on which the Governor may award a pension).

HEAD 18.

"Still Serving" should not be inserted under this head; a definite date must be given.

HEAD 21.

The Treasury will verify and if need be amend from its records on the form C.A. 98, or otherwise, the statements under Heads 11 and 12.

HEAD 22.

The amount certified by the Controller and Auditor-General represents merely the superior limit which cannot lawfully be exceeded. The Governor may award any lesser amount should be see fit.

CIVIL SERVICE PENSION FUND.

The first report on this Fund is contained in the Parliamentary Paper G. 63-'88, in which it is stated that the roll of contributors to the Fund on the 31st December, 1887, included the names of 2,363 officers, of whom 487 had ceased to contribute: 85 of these avoided their liability by being placed on daily pay; the remainder either died, resigned, retired from the service, or were dismissed.

There were no transactions under provisions of section 6 of the Act to report.

WIDOWS' PENSION FUND.

Acts:—No. 25 of 1874. [Not promulgated. Repealed 1879.]
No. 22 of 1879. No. 3 of 1880. No. 14 of 1882.
No. 42 of 1885. No. 31 of 1888.

Regulations:—Government Notice No. 1141 of 1879.

General Provisions.

1. The advantages of the Acts are available to the widows of those officers on the Fixed Establishment whose salaries are at least £100 per annum, and to the widow of every contributor to the Fund of less than ten years' service, and not on the Fixed Establishment, who shall have been required so to contribute on salary or wages amounting to £100 per annum.

2. Officers on the Fixed Establishment at the time of the passing of the 1879 Act were allowed the option of contributing to the Fund. By Act No. 14 of 1882, this right expired on the 26th June, 1883. All persons placed on the Fixed Establishment after the 16th September, 1879, when the Act No. 22 of 1879 was promulgated, are compelled to contribute to the fund 1 per cent. of their annual salaries.

3. All who contribute the 1 per cent. may contribute further sums, provided the state of their health has been approved of when they propose to pay the additional contributions.

4. No pension may exceed one-third of the salary of the deceased husband, nor may it exceed £250 per annum.

5. The contributions to the fund at the rate of one per cent. per annum must be paid monthly.

6. Interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum is paid to the fund at the close of each half-year on the balance to its credit.

7. Any person who has been dismissed from, or has resigned his office in, the service forfeits all claims on behalf of his widow to the benefits of this fund.

8. The reports of the fund, since its establishment until the present time, are contained in the following printed papers:—

G. 58, 1881.	G. 8, 1884.	G. 32, 1887.
G. 93, 1882.	G. 44, 1885.	G. 32, 1888.
G. 53, 1883.	G. 43, 1886.

9. The Actuary's first quinquennial report upon the operations of the fund [G. 43, '86, price 6d.] is dated the 21st April, 1886, and contained, amongst other interesting information, a Balance Sheet, showing the state of the fund on the 31st December, 1884, which was printed on page 185 of the Civil Service List for 1887.

Compulsory Contribution.

FIRST WIFE'S PENSION.

I. IN CONSIDERATION OF THE CONTRIBUTIONS PAID BY THE MEMBER DURING BACHELORHOOD.

RULE: Accumulate the contributions at 5 per cent. compound interest, and multiply the amount by the quantity found in Table A, corresponding to the respective ages of the husband and wife at the time of marriage.

The product will give the annual pension to which the wife will be entitled on her husband's death, on account of his past contributions.

EXAMPLE: Thus, if the total contributions of the member during bachelorhood, when accumulated at the rate of 5 per cent. interest amount to £20, and the ages of himself and wife at the time of marriage are 25 and 20 respectively, then £20 + ·40096 = £8·0192

Wife's pension = £8 0s. 4d.

II. IN CONSIDERATION OF THE FUTURE ANNUAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO BE PAYABLE FROM THE DATE OF MARRIAGE.

(a) In respect of the salary receivable at the time of Marriage.

RULE: Multiply the annual contribution by the quantity found in Table B, corresponding to the respective ages of the husband and wife at the time of marriage.

The product will give the annual pension to which the wife will be entitled on her husband's death, on account of his contributions in respect of the salary receivable at the time of marriage.

EXAMPLE: Thus, if the last referred to member's salary at the time of marriage be £150 a year, and the annual contribution be £1 10s., and the ages of himself and wife at the time of marriage be 25 and 20 respectively, then £1 10s. + 6·595 = £9·8925.

Wife's pension = £9 17s 10d.

(b) In respect of increments made to the salary after marriage.

RULE: Multiply the additional contribution by the quantity found in Table B, corresponding to the respective ages of the husband and wife at the date of the increments of salary.

The product will give the additional annual pension to which the wife will be entitled on her husband's death, in respect of his additional contributions on account of an increase of his salary.

EXAMPLE: Thus, if the last referred to member's salary be increased by £50 a-year, and the then ages of himself and wife are respectively 30 and 25, then the further pension will be: 10s. + 5·934 = 2·967.

Wife's further pension=£2 19s. 4d.

Thus the total pension of the widow of the member here referred to would now be £8 0s. 4d.+£9 17s. 10d.+£2 19s. 4d.=£20 17s. 6d.

Voluntary Contributions.

ADDITIONAL PENSION SECURED BY A FIXED ANNUAL PAYMENT DURING THE JOINT LIVES OF THE MEMBER AND HIS NAMED WIFE.

RULE: Take annual amount proposed to be paid, and multiply it by the quantity found in Table C, corresponding to the respective ages of the husband and wife.

Digitized by Google

The product will give the additional annual pension to which the wife named will be entitled on her husband's death, in respect of his voluntary contributions.

EXAMPLE: If a member, himself and his wife being of the respective age of 30 and 20, proposes to make a voluntary contribution of £20 per annum so long as he and his wife are both alive, the additional pension so secured to the wife named will be: £20+5·2565=£105·130.

Additional pension secured to wife named by the voluntary annual contributions of £20 per annum } =£105 2s. 7d.

PUBLIC SERVICE GUARANTEE FUND.

Under the 42nd Section of Act No. 42 of 1885, 262 officers became contributors to the Guarantee Fund during the year 1887, of whom 5 ceased to contribute on account of their leaving the Public Service through resignation, &c., and from those a total initial deduction of £1 1s. 3d. has been derived. From the remaining 257 officers the initial deductions of £48 10s. have been made.

The contributions to the fund during the past year amount to £632 12s. 1d., as compared with £619 0s. 2d. during the year 1886, being an increase of £13 11s. 11d.

The total loss to the Fund since its establishment is £493 18s. 11d., and the total loss to the public revenue is £436 19s. 6d.; the combined net loss sustained is therefore £930 18s. 5d., viz.:

The reports of this Fund are contained in the Parliamentary Papers G. 33—'87 and G. 7—88.

The sections of the Civil Service Act relating to security are numbered from 42 to 55.—[Vide pages 138-9.]

The regulations of the Controller and Auditor-General under this head, sections 413-421, were published by Government Notice No. 617, 1886, and took effect from the 1st July, 1886.

MEMORANDUM on the Civil Service Acts, No. 42 of 1885, and No. 31 of 1888, and on the Civil Service Pension Fund Act, No. 23 of 1886.

Control and Audit Office,
Cape Town, 16th October, 1888.

1. The difficulties in interpretating Act 42 of 1885 have been mainly removed by the passing of Act 31 of 1888. The unequal treatment of employés on day pay and monthly or annual salary has also been almost entirely removed, the only remaining difference between these two classes being that day pay employés are allowed the privilege of electing whether or not they shall contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund, while employés on monthly or annual salary of less than ten years' service must contribute to that Fund, provided in either case that the duties discharged are not of a purely temporary character.

2. Another grave inequality has also been removed. The privilege of being placed on the Fixed Establishment on the ground of ten years' continuous good service was under Act 42 of 1885 reserved to employés in the departments of the Postmaster-General and General Manager of Railways. It is now extended to employés in every civil department.

3. All offices filled up under the provisions of the Civil Service Acts of 1885 and 1888 may be divided into two classes, viz :—(a) Offices included in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888, and (b) all other offices filled up under the provisions of these Acts.

4. All candidates for admission to any office included in Schedule B to Act 31 of 1888 must be over seventeen and under twenty-five years of age, of good character, free from any physical defects or disease which would be likely to interfere with the proper discharge of their duties, and free from any legal disability.

5. By the fourth section of Act 42 of 1885 all such candidates are required to pass a Civil Service Examination. The subjects at present prescribed for that examination may be ascertained by reference to the Civil Service Calendar at the end of this volume.

6. Save in exceptional cases, every person appointed to any office included in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888, must be over seventeen and under twenty-five years of age, must be chosen from the list of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, and must be appointed by the Governor on probation. After service for at least six months on probation he may be placed on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service, if he has satisfied the ministerial head of his department of his fitness to be permanently employed in that department, and that his conduct and dilligence during probation have been uniformly satisfactory.

7. If, however, the permanent head of a ministerial department reports that the qualifications of the office to be filled up are wholly or partly professional or peculiar, and not ordinarily possessed or to be acquired in the Civil Service, or possessed by candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, and that the requisite qualifications are not possessed in sufficient degree by any available person then in the Civil Service of the Colony, the Governor may, under the 13th section of Act 42 of 1845, on the recommendation of the Minister, appoint any person possessing the necessary qualifications, and deemed best fitted to fill the vacancy, dispensing wholly or partially with the examination prescribed in the

Act, or with any examination, or substituting for it any other examination he may think fit to prescribe. An annual return of all such exceptional appointments up to date is required to be laid before Parliament within 30 days after its meeting.

8. In the case of persons appointed under the provisions of the 13th Section of the Act no period of service on probation is prescribed as necessary before they are placed on the Fixed Establishment, but on the other hand requiring a period of probation is not forbidden, and obviously it must depend on the circumstances of each case whether a period of probation is or is not expedient and what should be the duration of any such period.

9. Admission to offices not included in Schedule A to the Act is entirely at the discretion of the Ministerial head of the department (vide Section 3 of Act 31 of 1888) provided that Parliament has made due provision for the salaries or wages of any persons so admitted.

10. Persons thus admitted may be divided into three classes:—

(a.) Those appointed for the discharge of duties of a purely temporary character;

(b). Those appointed on monthly or annual salary for the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character;

(c). And those appointed on daily wages for the discharge of duties of the character last mentioned.

11. Persons appointed for the discharge of duties of a purely temporary character may not contribute either to the Civil Service Pension Fund, or to the Widows' Pension Fund, nor is it lawful to grant them any pension or gratuity on the termination of their period of service.

12. Persons appointed on monthly or annual salary for the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character are required to contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund, if seventeen years of age or upwards, otherwise as soon as they reach the age of seventeen.

13. Persons appointed on daily wages for the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character differ only from the last mentioned class in that they may elect within one month of their appointment or of their reaching the age of seventeen whether or not they shall contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund.

14. It is clearly implied that if any such person fails to intimate his decision within the period allowed he shall be deemed to have elected not to contribute; if, however, without any formal intimation, he has allowed the requisite deductions to be made from his wages, the fact of such deductions having been made would be accepted as a sufficient intimation of his desire to contribute.

15. Every contributor to the Civil Service Pension Fund of less than ten years' service whose salary or wages amounts to £100 per annum or upwards must also contribute to the Widows' Pension Fund.

16. If officers appointed on probation under the 12th Section of Act 42 of 1885 voluntarily contribute to the Civil Service Pension Fund during their period of probation, then at their ultimate retirement, their period of service on probation will be included in their period of service for pension purposes; otherwise it will not be included in such period.

17. Should any contributor fail to contribute in respect of any emolument on which he should have contributed, such emolument shall not be taken into consideration at his retirement in the calculation of his pension.

18. After ten years' continuous service any person appointed under the provisions of the third section of Act 31 of 1888, or discharging like duties on the twenty-first of August 1888, may send in an application on the form C.A. 113 to be placed on the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service, and should the head of his department be able to certify that the applicant has served ten years continuously, that he discharges his duties with efficiency, that he is free from any physical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with such efficiency, that his conduct has been uniformly good, and that he is free from any legal disability, he will receive an intimation that he has been placed on such Establishment.

19. It may be observed that the law does not distinctly provide that applicants for admission to the Fixed Establishment of the Civil Service on the ground of ten years' service must establish their freedom from any physical defect or disease likely to interfere with the discharge of their duties, but it is obviously within the powers of the Government to define the term "efficiency" in the preceding paragraph, and it is its duty to protect the Civil Service and Widows' Pension Funds against loss through the admission into the Public Service of persons not in good health or who are suffering from some physical defect or disease likely to interfere with the discharge of their duties. It is obvious that a person afflicted with some physical defect or disease which is likely to interfere with the discharge of his duties cannot be properly described as efficient.

20. It would, however, be hard, if not unfair, that a person who on his admission into the service was free from physical defect or disease should be debarred from being placed on the Fixed Establishment after ten years' service, through physical defect or disease contracted after his admission. It has therefore been prescribed that in the case of any person in respect of whom on his admission into the service a Medical Certificate has been granted of his being free from any physical defect or disease which would be likely to interfere with the discharge of his duties, it is not necessary that such freedom should again be certified when he is placed on the Fixed Establishment.

21. Should any person after ten years' continuous service be not placed on the Fixed Establishment from any cause other than voluntary resignation, or his own fault or neglect, his contributions to the Civil Service Pension Fund and the Widows' Pension Fund shall be returned to him, should he desire it, together with simple interest thereon at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum; in which event he shall thenceforth cease to contribute to either fund, and it shall not be lawful thereafter to grant him any pension or gratuity on his retirement from the service, or to grant any pension to his widow.

22. If, however, he does not desire such refund, he will continue to contribute, and his widow's pension, and (save in the case of abolition of office) his own pension will be as great as it would have been had he been placed on the Fixed Establishment.

23. For the fact of being or not being on the Fixed Establishment does not in the least affect widows' pensions, nor does it under the Act of 1888 in the least affect the pension or gratuity which may lawfully be granted to an officer or employé on his retirement, save only in the case of abolition of office.

24. Indeed the only advantages of being placed on the Fixed Establishment are:—

(a). Greater fixity of tenure of office. The services of officers on the fixed establishment may not be dispensed with unless either they are over sixty years or in certain cases over 50 years of age, or their offices are abolished, or they are removed from office for misconduct, or are found to be unfit for efficient discharge of their duties; while the services of an officer not on the Fixed Establishment may be dispensed with at any time by the Ministerial head of his department at his discretion.

(b). In the case of abolition of office a certain number of years, from one to ten, according to the length of service may for the purpose of calculating pension be added to the years of service of an officer on the Fixed Establishment, but no such addition of years may be made in the case of an officer not on the Fixed Establishment.

25. It should, however, be observed that being placed on the Fixed Establishment on the ground of ten years' service does not qualify an officer to receive an appointment included in the Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888.

26. The Council of the University of the Cape of Good Hope is required by the seventh section of the Civil Service Act to hold from time to time a Civil Service Law Examination.

27. All persons in the Civil Service of the Colony, or appointed on probation, or in the list of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Examination, are eligible as candidates for the Law Examination.

28. Persons who have passed any other Law Examination of the University, or who, previous to 1874, obtained certificates of proficiency in law and jurisprudence from the Board of Examiners, may have their names enrolled in the official list of candidates who have passed the Civil Service Law Examination.

29. After the 1st January, 1887, no person who had not on that day served at least ten years in the Civil Service may be permanently appointed as Resident or Assistant Resident Magistrate, unless his name shall appear in the above list, and unless he shall possess a sufficient knowledge of the Dutch language.

30. Should any officer on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service resign his office without giving three months' notice of his intention to do so, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding three months' salary.

31. While, as already stated, the legal difficulties in interpreting the Civil Service Act have been to a great extent removed by the passing of Act 31 of 1888, the administrative difficulties necessarily remain.

32. It is, I believe, impossible to coin a phrase or frame any general description by which it might be readily decided by anyone whether the holder of a certain office is or is not included in Schedule A.

33. The phrase actually adopted "Officers of and above the rank of 3rd Class Clerks" in a number of specified departments seems as good as any other that can be suggested, and in most departments there is no practical difficulty in interpreting the phrase.

34. It is far otherwise in the departments of Posts, Telegraphs and Railways, and to some extent in the department of Public Works.

35. In these departments it is necessary to engage boys, and to train them for the discharge of their duties. If these youths succeed in passing the Civil Service examination, and in obtaining an office in Schedule A before reaching 25 years of age, every position in the service is open to them; but if through lack of opportunities they are unable to pass that examination, the promotion must be limited to officers not included in Schedule A to Act 31 of 1888.

36. To take an illustration, if the Postmaster at a certain important station is held to be in Schedule A, the most efficient postmaster and telegraphist in the service, if not on the Fixed Establishment on 9th February, 1886, could not be appointed to that office, should he unfortunately not have passed the Civil Service Examination before becoming 25 years of age.

37. To put it broadly, by declaring that the holders of certain superior offices in such departments are included in Schedule A, legitimate avenues of promotion may be closed to men trained up in the department from their boyhood and in every way thoroughly efficient.

38. Caution should therefore be exercised in deciding that the holder of a certain office is included in the Schedule. At the same time through the increase of educational opportunities, it will be safe and practicable gradually to increase the number of offices for which only persons who pass the very moderate examination styled the Civil Service Examination are alone eligible.

39. Many Civil Commissioners and Accounting Officers having found some difficulty in applying the Pension Fund regulations to particular cases, it may be mentioned by way of illustration that subject to the conditions as to age and election already mentioned, pension deductions must be made from all railway, postal, and telegraph employes, messengers, gaolers, matrons of gaols, turnkeys, constables at convict stations, forest rangers, male and female hospital attendants, &c., &c., employed in the discharge of duties not of a purely temporary character. On the other hand, persons employed on railway construction are exempt on the ground of the temporary nature of their duties. The members of the Medical Board, all district surgeons, and nearly all other medical practitioners at present employed in the public service, are exempt, in a few instances on the ground that they were on the fixed establishment of the Civil Service before the 10th of August, 1885; in other cases on the ground that they are paid out of the Railway Sick Fund, not out of votes; and in other cases on the ground that their whole time is not devoted to the public service. Issuers of process are exempt on the last mentioned ground. Native Police are exempt on the ground that on their retirement they may receive pensions under Act 12 of 1874. Native chiefs and headmen are exempt on the ground that payments are made to them during their natural life, and therefore they cannot be said at any time to be put on pension.

40. There are a number of small appointments in the service, the holders of which are continually changing, in consequence of their voluntary resignation. As no pension or gratuity may be granted under the Civil Service Act to any person under sixty years or in certain cases fifty years of age who voluntarily resigns his appointment, it is not expedient that such persons should be required to contribute to a fund from which, in the probable event of their voluntary resignation, they can obtain no benefit. The difficulty may be avoided by placing such persons, should they wish not to contribute, on daily pay, instead of monthly salary.

Dictation and Spelling (Written).

Time allowed for this and Handwriting—1½ Hour.

I. Write the following passages from Dictation :—

A. The heavy north-west gales, which cause so much damage to shipping in Table Bay, are preceded by atmospheric pressure decreasing slowly with the wind at north-north-east, and the temperature increasing to an unusual height, thirty-six hours or more before their advent. Clouds appear in the north-west, the air becomes damp towards evening, and during the night or in the early morning Table Mountain and the adjacent high land becomes enveloped with heavy masses of vapour. The barometer is low. The wind rises suddenly from north-north-west, accompanied by heavy rain squalls, and it veers to south-west through west; though in winter especially its direction often remains constant from west-north-west for forty-eight hours, with continuous rain. The wind drops and the weather clears soon after the wind gets to the southward of west, but when it shifts quickly from north-west to south-west in a squall, a strong gale from that quarter, with a rising barometer, may be expected, the wind moderating when the reading of the barometer attains 30 inches. Such gales are mostly followed by fine settled weather; but when their direction veers slowly, the wind frequently backs to the north-west, and blows with greater violence. A wind between north and north-east in the vicinity of the Cape of Good Hope, with a steady barometer, brings rainy, misty weather and fog.

B. The natural pasturage of the Transvaal is as a rule good and ample; and until very lately, afforded sustenance to vast multitudes of all the varieties of the antelope. The destruction of these immense herds has been, however, so wholesale and systematic that large numbers of game are now rarely met with except in the remote northern districts. During the winter the barbarous system of grass burning is carried on; and this must have the effect, if not of improving the pasture, at any rate of driving the wild game further away. The farmers in the more southern districts and in the high veldt are supposed to be more wedded to this system than those in other portions of the country. As the traveller proceeds northwards, the amelioration of the climate is seen in the greater abundance and luxuriance of the clothing of Nature. The vegetation is so continuous, the pasture so good, and the climate so mild, that the farmers for long distances round leave their own homes, and proceed with their cattle to those more genial portions of the country.

II. Write the following words and sentences from Dictation :—

(a) The last Session of the Colonial Parliament was opened and closed by Her Majesty's representative in person.

(b) The Suez Canal is a new channel of communication between the vigorous life of Europe and the ancient centres of Oriental civilization.

(c) Harassed on every side, and with their ranks almost decimated, the intrepid band of soldiers dashed through the enemy's line, and succeeded in finding an asylum among their country's faithful allies

(d) The Mercantile Marine in modern days is largely recruited from sources which half a century ago gave no sign of naval enterprise or commercial genius.

(e) The siege was at length raised, but not before one half of the buildings had been razed to the ground in the indignant and indiscriminating fury of the beleaguered and starving citizens.

Reading.

Read aloud the following passage :—

In the intervals of rest which Bacon's political and judicial functions afforded, he was in the habit of retiring to Gorhambury. At that place his business was literature, and his favourite amusement gardening, which in one of his most interesting Essays he calls "the purest of human pleasures." In his magnificent grounds he erected, at a cost of ten thousand pounds, a retreat to which he repaired when he wished to avoid all visitors, and to devote himself wholly to study. On such occasions, a few young men of distinguished talents were sometimes the companions of his retirement; and among them his quick eye soon discerned the superior abilities of Thomas Hobbes. It is not probable, however, that he fully appreciated the powers of his disciple, or foresaw the vast influence, both for good and for evil, which that most vigorous and acute of human intellects was destined to exercise on the two succeeding generations.

CURENT LITERA*TURE.*

*South Afric*an Sketches. By Major A. B. Ellis. (Chap*man* and Hall.]—This is a volume of twelve short stories; about Boers and Diamond-diggers in South africa, well told in a strain of boisterous humour and with an apparent appreciation of the rough and unrefined life of these up-country colonists. "A Night's Drive" is a brisk account a in drive of a long bone-shaking Cape waggon. Ending in a break-neck rush down a dangerous hill, which every one avoided by prudently jumping out of the conveyance, except the driver who tells the story, and the man and who was fast dreaming a curious dream throughout this last spurt.

"The LEGEND of the portuguese Ruin is rather a poor story of the vision that appeared to a drunken Boer, overtaken by a storm near a lonely ruin. "Piet" is a much better story, illustratinga Hottentotsuperstitionconserning the hare, which depends on depends on the following tradition:"—The moon comes, by-and-by it dies, and then it comes to life again. The moon once called the hair, and.

Said to him: 'Go to men, and tell them that as I die and come to life again, so shall they alsc die and come to life again.' The hare went accronidylg as he was told, and when he' the moon asked him: 'What did you say!' The hare replied: 'I have told them that as you die and come not to life again, so shall they also die and come not to life again.' 'What!' said the Moon; 'did you say that?' And being angry, he took up a stick, and hit the hare which became slit' on the mouth· "J im stone" is a rough bigger storey written in verse, with an american, chiefly Bret Harteish ring about it, its moral being,—

2. On the part of the English Government, no time was lost. Five years after the accession of George III. a Bill was brought into Parliament to tax the Americans; and so complete had been the change in political affairs, that not the least difficulty was found in passing a measure which, in the reign of George II. no minister had dared to propose. Formerly such a proposal, if made, would certainly have been rejected; now the most powerful parties in the state were united in its favour. The King was sure of the support of the clergy, and they zealously aided him in every attempt to oppress the colonies. The aristocracy, a few leading Whigs alone excepted, were on the same side, and looked to the taxation of America as a means of lessening their own contributions.—Buckle.

Maar wat te zeggen van mannen en vrouwen met grijze haren, die nog altijd vreemdelingen voor zichzelven zijn, die oud worden, zegeningen ontvangen, beproevingen ondergaan, die de makkers hunner jeugd aan hunne zijde zien vallen en nog altoos als de kleine kinderen zijn, en door het ernstige leven wandelen als ware het kinderspel! Wat te zeggen van mannen en vrouwen, die voor alles hoofd, tijd en lust hebben, behalve voor de kennis van hunne eigene ziel, in alle dingen ervaren zijn, maar verlegen om het antwoord te geven op de vraag: wie zijt gij, waartoe leeft gij?—Gorter.

Spreken is Schilderen. Ook in dit opzicht moeten de talen in haar jeugd sprekender, teekenachtiger geweest zijn, dan nu op haar ouden dag, omdat de eerste menschenmaatschappijen beperkter gezichteinder ongekunstelder levenswijs hadden, omdat haar gedachten en zorgen nog vooral door zichtbare voorwerpen en eenvoudige betrekkingen werden bezig gehouden. Het was natuurlijk, dat zij voor onzichtbare dingen, voor eigenschappen, gewaarwordingen, deugden, recht en ideaal, namen borgden bij de natuur, waarmede zij vertrouwd waren, opklimmende van de stof tot den geest. 't Is natuurlijk dat het zoo geweest is, omdat het in den grond nog zoo is.

$$\frac{72434{\cdot}69 \times 0{\cdot}00136 \times 3{\cdot}1415926 \times 113 \times 9208}{355 \times 2931 \times 0{\cdot}000413 \times 0{\cdot}91244}.$$ and arrange your calculation so that the Log. of the result is found by one addition.

1.—TRANSLATE INTO GERMAN:—

There are many people that would be thought, and even think themselves, honest men, who fail nevertheless in particular points of honesty; deviating from that character sometimes by the prevalence of mode or custom, and sometimes through mere inattention; so that their honesty is partial only, and not general or universal. Thus one, who would scorn to over-reach you in a bargain, shall make no scruple of tricking you a little now and then at cards: another that plays with the utmost fairness, shall with great freedom cheat you in the sale of a horse. But there is no kind of dishonesty, into which otherwise good people more easily and frequently fall, than that of defrauding Government of its revenues by smuggling, when they have an opportunity, or encouraging smugglers by buying their goods.

The people of Great Britain, under the happy constitution of this country, have a privilege few other countries enjoy, that of choosing the third branch of the legislature, which branch has alone the power of regulating their taxes. Now, whenever the Government finds it necessary for the common benefit, advantage, and safety of the nation, for the security of our liberties, property, religion and everything that is dear to us, that certain sums shall be yearly raised by taxes, duties, &c., and paid into the Public Treasury, thence to be dispensed by the Government for these purposes; ought not every honest man freely and willingly to pay his just proportion of this necessary expense? Can he possibly preserve a right to that character, if, by any fraud, stratagem, or contrivance, he avoids that payment in whole or in part?—B. Franklin.

Tedes Volk hat solche einfache Weisen, bei denen sich Landsleute an dem Eindruck erkennen, dendie Melodie auf sie macht. Wenn die Auswanderer, von denen wir vorhin sprachen, alles verlieren, die Liebe zu ihrem Vaterlande, selbst den geläufigen Ausdruck ihrer Muttersprache, die Melodien der Heimat leben unter ihnen länger, als alles Andere, und mancher Narr, der in der Fremde seinen Stolz darein setzt, ein naturalisirter Fremder zu sein, fühlte sich plötzlich wieder deutsch, wenn er ein Paar Tacte singen hört, die ihm in seiner Tugend bekannt waren."

Der Kaufmann sagte: "Sie haben Recht. Wer aus seiner Heimat scheidet, ist sich selten bewusst, was er Alles aufgiebt; er merkt es vielleicht erst dann, wenn die Erinnerung daran eine Freude seines späteren Lebens wird. Diese Erinnerung ist wohl auch dem verwilderten Mann ein Heiligthum, das er oft selbst entbehrt und verspottet, das er aber in seinen besten Augenblicken immer wieder aufsucht."—G. Freytag.

Wallenstein hatte über eine Armee von beinahe hunderttausend Mann zu gebieten, von denen er angebetet wurde, als das Urtheil der Absetzung ihm verkündigt werden sollte. Die meisten Offiziere waren seine Geschöpfe, seine Winke Aussprüche des Schicksals für den gemeinen Soldaten. Grenzenlos war sein Ehrgeiz, unbengsam sein Stolz, sein gebieterischer Geist nicht fähig, eine Kränkung ungerrochen zu erdulden. Ein Augenblick sollte ihn jetzt von der Fülle der Gewalt in das Nichts des Privatstandes herunterstürzen. Eine solche Sentenz gegen einen solchen Verbrecher zu vollstrecken, schien nicht viel weniger Kunst zu kosten, als es gekostet hatte, sie dem Richter zu entreissen. Auch hatte man deswegen die Vorsicht gebraucht, zwei von Wallenstein's genauesten Freunden zu Ueberbringern dieser schlimmen Botschaft zu wählen, welche durch die schmeichelhaftesten Zusicherungen der fortdauernden kaiserlichen Gnade so sehr als möglich gemildert werden sollte.—Schiller.

II. TRANSLATE INTO KAFIR:

Alexander, having taken the necessary precautions for securing the tranquillity of Macedon in his absence, set out for Asia in the beginning of spring. His army consisted of little more than thirty thousand foot and near five thousand horse; but they were all brave men, well disciplined, and inured to fatigue. They had made several campaigns under Philip, and were each of them, in case of necessity, capable of commanding. Most of the officers were nearly threescore years of age, and the common men fifty; and when they were either assembled or drawn up at the head of a camp, they had the appearance of a venerable senate. Parmenio commanded the infantry; Philotas, his son had eighteen hundred horse under him; and Callas, the son of Harpalus, the same number of Thessalian Cavalry. The rest of the horse, consisting of natives of the several states, were under the direction of a separate commander; and the Thracians and Phæonians, who were always in front, were headed by Cassander. Such was the army which was to decide the fate, not only of Greece, but of all the eastern world. Alexander began his march along the lake Cercinitis; and after passing the rivers Strymon and Hebrus, he came to the shore of the Hellespont, which he crossed in a hundred and sixty galleys and several flat-bottomed vessels, himself steering his own galley; and upon his arrival at the opposite coast, as if to take possession of the Continent, he leaped from his ship in complete armour, and expressed the greatest transports of joy.

The most striking feature in the Cretan mode of life, though this too they had in common with most other Doric states, was the custom according to which all the citizens, old and young, took their meals, together at public tables and at the expense of the state. These public meals, which were elsewhere called Syssitia, bore in Crete the name of Andreia. They kept up among the ruling class a feeling of unity and superiority over their subjects, and bound together the citizens by close intimacy, while the young had opportunities of listening to the opinions and views of the older men. Besides this, however, the conduct of boys and youths was strictly watched by persons appointed for the purpose.

During the last twenty years of the sixteenth century the population of Holland and Zeeland was largely increased by immigrants of the Protestant faith from the Southern Netherland Provinces. Many of these immigrants spoke no other language than French, and wherever they settled in sufficient numbers clergymen using that language were appointed to conduct religious services for them. In this manner numerous French and Walloon congregations were established throughout the Free Netherlands.

These congregations, however, did not form separate churches, but only new branches of churches which previously existed in the towns where they settled. To each ecclesiastical fabric several clergymen were usually attached, and when a French congregation was formed one of these clergymen was selected to attend to it. In the same building where the ordinary Dutch services were held French services were conducted at different hours, the whole body of worshippers being united in one church with its deacons, elders, and other officers.

It seemed impossible that I could place credence in this, but it impressed me. She had disappeared from the hotel—the waiter, whom I bribed into my confidence, told me she had left for France by the mail-boat on the very day she had implored my silence. It was so like the truth, and yet so like a base invention. I stole away from the hotel—I was afraid of the man Saunders, and all that he might tell me presently—I was haunted, and more miserable than ever. When the four days had expired, I returned to Folkestone in the cold, boisterous Christmas week, and took up my place at the little lighthouse where I had parted from her last. I believed she would return. In all my agonising doubts of her, I did not doubt her word. And after that, the accusation—and the last farewell. The woman triumphant, perhaps, but the man no longer the dupe of his implicit trust in her.

Ce fut librement qu'il accepta cette solution, car qu'un tel homme ait pu être la dupe de Fouché, comme on l'a écrit et comme sa fille semble l'admettre, c'est ce qu'il nous est, très difficile de croire. Quel besoin Davout avait-il de Fouché pour comprendre que, Napoléon ayant abdiqué et le gouvernement de son fils sous une régence n'ayant aucune chance d'être accepté par les alliés, il n'y avait pour la France que deux alternatives: ou se prêter au rétablissement des Bourbons, ou revenir à l'anarchie révolutionnaire, qu'il abhorrait de toute son âme? Mais, après comme avant l'abdication, l'indépendance nationale restait son principal souci. Il lutta autant qu'il le put pour que le nouveau gouvernement fût ou parût un choix de la France et non une conséquence de la conquête, et pour empêcher que les alliés ne s'arrogeassent le droit d'imposer à la France ses conditions d'ordre intérieur. Après l'abdication, il essaya de négocier un armistice avec les généraux des armées alliées en cherchant á leur faire accepter la distinction qu'il établissait dans sa pensée entre la France et le souverain qui était la cause unique de la guerre. "Les motifs de la guerre que nous font les souverains alliés n'existent plus, puisque l'empereur Napoléon a abdiqué," disait-il dans une lettre fort noble adressée à Wellington.

BE SURE YOU GET

THE • ISLAY • BLEND.

A GENUINE OLD HIGHLAND WHISKY.

The rage for silent flavourless WHISKIES made in the Low Country is well-nigh at an end, it being neither more nor less than a large proportion of Raw Grain Whisky.

When the taste is cultivated for a fine Highland Malt Whisky, as at Home with the better classes, the bouquet and flavour of the ISLAY BLEND will be appreciated.

You want a flavour or bouquet to sip and not merely a plain Spirit for the sake of imbibing Spirit.
